Hoover Personally Presents Tax Message To Senate

President Goes Before Senate In Plea For Action

Appears In Person And Gives Special Message This Afternoon

REQUESTS SPEED IN BUDGET BALANCING

Says Non-Partisan Effort Recently Attempted Not Very Successful

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—In an atmosphere reminiscent of war days, President Hoover went before the senate in person today with a plea for the speedy enactment of a budget-balancing tax bill, and the adoption of economy measures.

Mr. Hoover presented a three-point program:

1. Balance the budget.
2. Stabilize the dollar.
3. Enact unemployment relief legislation.

The delay in passing the tax bill, the President said, has resulted in the world getting an exaggerated idea of conditions in this country, leading to heavy withdrawal of gold and destabilizing the dollar abroad. But, he added, the country has the resources and the ability to weather the crisis, and he predicted that it will be weathered.

The President said he was not in favor of a general sales tax, which brought a few gasps of surprise from the crowded floors, as earlier Mr. Hoover had spoken favorably of it to a number of senators.

"I have not and do not favor a general sales tax but in order to show the world we are ready to make any sacrifice I have now come to the conclusion that a limited (Continued on Page Two)

Patriotic Note Is Struck In Addresses And Exercises Given

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

Another Memorial Day has passed. Once more the patriotic citizens of New Castle paid due respect to the memory of the veterans of all wars, those patriotic dead, who did their duty in the time of need of their country, that those who do not honor each Memorial Day, may enjoy the utmost in life.

The Memorial Day just past was one of more than usual reverence and inspiration and the greater interest displayed on all sides was noticeable.

Rapidly thinning ranks of the veterans of the civil war were more than ever in evidence, when but seven of the boys of 1861-1865 were able to respond and receive the special honors that were conferred on them in every possible way.

Due to the fact that Memorial Day fell on Monday this year, the observance of the Memorial Day season was of two days duration, (Continued on Page Six)

Ten Injured In Three Accidents

McKeesport Man Seriously Hurt In Leesburg Crash

FIVE INJURED IN WAMPUM CRASH

Ten persons were injured, one seriously, Sunday, Monday and early today in motor car accidents in this vicinity, according to State Highway patrolmen stationed here.

According to the highway patrol investigation the most seriously hurt is J. Kruszcyna, McKeesport, who is in Mercer cottage hospital. He is reported to have sustained a badly injured neck.

The crash in which the McKeesport man was a victim, occurred at Leesburg, Sunday morning. An auto in which he was an occupant struck a conveyer truck trailer on the Perry highway.

It was learned by the patrol that a conveyer truck operated by Frank Hutsburger, Cornwall Avenue, Buffalo, operating toward Mercer, broke down. The trailer extended part way across the road.

Huntsburger got out of the truck and was about to examine the motor when a machine driven by Leo Brodzinski, Fairmont Avenue, McKeesport, also travelling toward Mercer, struck trailer.

Mrs. Lena Brodzinski, wife of Leo, chin fractured; bruises about face and head; in Mercer cottage hospital.

J. Kruszcyna, Colfax Avenue, McKeesport; injuries about the neck, in Mercer cottage hospital.

Mrs. Pearl Kruszcyna, wife of J. Kruszcyna; body bruises and shock; in Mercer cottage hospital.

Two More Accidents
Five were injured, though not seriously, when automobiles operated by Michael Prescario, 304 Montsomery street, this city and A. M. Boles, 349 South Market street, East Palestine, O., crashed at Wampum early this morning. According to the Highway patrol reports Boles (Continued on Page Seventeen)

Garner To Wage Stiff Fight To Obtain Program

Garner Divests Self Of Speakership And Makes Plea For Relief

RAINEY PLACES BILL IN HOUSE

President Hoover Has Denounced Garner's Plan As "Pork Barrel" Measure

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Shattering a long-standing precedent, speaker John N. Garner prepared to make a personal plea before the House Ways and Means committee today in behalf of his $2,300,000,000 unemployment relief program.

The speaker divested himself on the usual role of speaker to become an advocate for his bill, thus indicating he intends to wage a battle to the finish for the measure.

While the bill was introduced by Rep. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader, it is known as the "Garner Program."

Labor Leaders Called
Representatives of the American Federation of Labor and other labor organizations, both demanding relief legislation somewhat akin to the Garner program, were called before the committee. William Green, president of the federation was to give his views through a spokesman.

In the face of President Hoover's bitter opposition to the billion-dollar public works phase of the measure, which he denounced as a "pork-barrel," House Democrats planned to make the program a party measure.

Following three days of hearings before the Ways and Means Committee and revision by that body, a party caucus will be called, according to Rainey.

Under the Democratic rule, a majority vote in the caucus in binding upon all. Unless there are defections, passage of the measure would be assured by employing the caucus.

LONDON, May 31.—A cocktail party in the fashionable apartment of Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, wife of an American singer and daughter of an English knight, ended today in the mysterious death from bullet wounds of Michael Scott Stephens, wealthy young Irishman.

Mrs. Barney, whose husband is John Sterling Barney, was taken to Scotland Yard for questioning.

Police who rushed to the apartment upon hearing four shots, followed by a woman's screams of anguish, found Stephens mortally wounded. He died a short while later.

Mrs. Barney's father, Sir John Mullens, wealthy and socially prominent stock broker, and her mother went to the apartment this morning and then accompanied their daughter to Scotland Yard.

Intensive Probe Begins.
A squad of the Yard's best detectives was assigned to investigate the mysterious shooting.

Printed in smaller type, for the sake of convenience, the 1932-33 directory of the city of New Castle is off the press of the Burch Directory company of Akron, O. Copies of the new directory are being distributed at the present time.

The directory printed for 1930-31 was done in larger type with the result that the book was almost unwieldy in size. Not only that but its size was responsible for the cover breaking away from the pages and many directory customers found themselves with a broken book on their hands.

The new directory is more compact, the type is of the newer design and although smaller is as legible as the old. In the directory is found an up-to-date list of citizens listed alphabetically and by streets, with a list of the various businesses and professions and organizations of the city.

It is an excellent volume and is the 29th issued here by the Burch company.

ORDER IMMEDIATE SALE OF BUILDING

New Castle post office authorities today had instructions from Washington to advertise for immediate sale the Gunning building, embraced in the parcel of public square land acquired by Uncle Sam for the construction of the city's new post office.

A letter from H. S. Roome, acting executive officer of the post office department, empowered local officials to advertise the block at once. Removal of the building will be required within 30 days of the time the government accepts a bid.

Acting Postmaster J. G. Leslie, serving in the absence of Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford, who commenced his vacation today, made public the Washington letter.

Attached to it was an inquiry over the name of a local resident who asks the government for information relative to its sale. The resident, according to his writing, states that he proposes to move it (Continued on Page Two)

Bromley Resumes Flight Today To Los Angeles, Cal.

(International News Service)
AMARILLO, Tex., May 31.—Balked in his effort to complete the first transcontinental non-stop flight in a Diesel-engine airplane, Harold Bromley was ready to resume his air journey to Los Angeles today.

The former Canadian army flyer was forced to land here at 9:35 o'clock last night because of leakages in his tank and fuel feed line. Having hopped off from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, at 3:01 yesterday morning, Bromley had been in the air 18 hours and 36 minutes when loss of fuel compelled him to land.

Whether or not Bromley will go through with his plan of attempting to fly across the Pacific from Seattle to Tokyo was uncertain. In reply to queries the aviator said: "I didn't say I would and I didn't say I wouldn't."

Pope Pius XI Is Celebrating His 75th Birthday

VATICAN CITY, May 31.—Congratulatory messages from all over the world poured into the Vatican today as Pope Pius XI, born the son of a Lombardy factory manager, celebrated the 75th anniversary of his birth.

The pope celebrated the occasion simply with a special mass of thanksgiving in his private chapel. A few members of his immediate family were present, along with several relatives of the papal household.

The Swiss guards and papal gendarmes were in full dress uniforms, and the yellow and white papal flag was masted throughout the Vatican state.

GERMAN PRESIDENT FACING CRISIS

Chancellor Is Forced To Quit

Resignation Of Bruening Brings New Situation For Von Hindenburg

FASISTS HOPE TO BENEFIT BY MOVE

By EDWARD L. DEUSS International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 31.—Still the powerful leader he was as commander of the great German army during the World War, President Paul von Hindenburg, now 85 years old, today assumed supreme control of the German nation and struggled single-handedly to guide it out of its present grave crisis.

It was a crisis created by the aged soldier-statesman himself by yesterday forcing the resignation of his long-trusted chancellor, Heinrich Brüning, and yet a crisis which Hindenburg foresaw and deemed himself completely capable of handling.

Conferences Held
Informative conference with the leaders of the various political parties, began yesterday, were continued today. It was possible Adolf Hitler, fascist leader who in one sense brought about Brüning's downfall, would be called in again.

Hindenburg's problem was to find a new government, but it was certain to be one with fascist representation, although Hindenburg's aim in ousting Brüning was to get government of greater rightist proportions.

The fascists who claim entire credit for Brüning's resignation, have made clear they will not participate in any government in which they do not have a majority and they are holding out for elections believed certain to be soon. Perhaps six weeks.

May Dissolve Reichstag
Some believed they would be held even earlier. It was reliably reported following the Hindenburg-Hitler conference yesterday that the President would order a dissolution of the Reichstag immediately, necessitating an election directly afterward.

The fascists feel certain of further great gains in such an election, similar to those registered in the recent presidential and Prussian diet elections, and feel they will be placed in power.

Meanwhile, Hindenburg was expected to appoint a temporary government, certain to be short-lived, to rule and interim. It was expected to be formed of men of no particular party affiliation, but solely of allegiance to the President himself.

To Continue Policies
While reports from foreign capitals indicated the world generally was alarmed by the Brüning resignation, Hindenburg was eager to have it understood there would be no change in the country's foreign policy, upon which Brüning had the backing of the entire country.

It was rather upon the home policy, and the make-up of the cabinet, upon which Hindenburg and the chancellor clashed.

way between the dates of May 26 and June 3, in order to leave the highways free for holiday traffic.

At least a dozen downtown residents were on roof buildings yesterday, watching the airplane antics.

By following Route 422 from New Castle, city of Cleveland is just 80 miles away, Pa. New observed Saturday.

Enon Valley had a striking method of honoring the war heroes of the borough who have passed away. Wooden crosses were erected in the public commons, with names of the veterans on them, and in front of each was an American flag.

Out at Mt. Jackson, those in charge of the cemetery above Battery B monument, have completed work on construction of a fine sidewalk, reaching from the road to the cemetery.

Work is apparently progressing well on the secondary road improvement plan of the State Highway department at the present time. The newly surfaced road from Walpole to Edinburg, is one of the finest pieces of improved highway of this kind in the county, and it is being traveled by many motorists.

There may be a depression, but it doesn't keep the autos off the highway, those who were in traffic on the main highways yesterday, will unite in declaring. Heavy traffic was noted on many of the highways in this section.

No matter how many times flags are hung out to observe national holidays, it still seems that there are many who do not know the proper way to hang out the stars and stripes.

manufacturers excise tax should be added," the president said.

He did, however, declare that there was merit in the Walsh plan, which would impose a limited sales tax of 1 3/4 per cent.

The President stressed economies as a means of balancing the budget.

He told how "a non-partisan effort" was made in the house to effect economies but said "it largely failed." He thereupon appealed to the senate through its non-partisan economy committee to further reduce governmental expenditures.

He made some reference to sacrifices by the people but he urged congress to make a "just distribution of the sacrifices." If this were done he said, it would "establish confidence in the integrity of the government."

The President urged prompt action by congress in balancing the budget. He said the necessity for promptness was just as great as to balance the budget.

WASHINGTON, May 31.

—President Hoover will go before the senate this afternoon with a special message on the tax situation.

The president will deliver his message in person, departing from the usual custom of having his communications read by a clerk.

Upon receipt of word that the President desired to communicate personally with the congress, the leaders arranged a joint session of congress, but later it was ascertained that Mr. Hoover wanted to address the senate alone, and the plans were changed accordingly.

The President left for the capital promptly at noon. Word that the president was going to address the senate in person—the first time he has delivered an oral message—spread rapidly about the capital and resulted in a rush for gallery seats.

For Moderate Sales Tax

Washington, May 31.—The administration threw its full influence behind a moderate manufacturers' sales tax today when Secretary of the Treasury Mills recommended adoption of the Walsh sales tax plan as a means of balancing the budget.

Mills told the senate finance committee the modest, broadly distributed production excise tax was the administration's first choice for raising enough money to balance Uncle Sam's books. He set the tax bill deficit at $285,000,000.

In event the sales tax is rejected Mills recommended an increased gasoline tax to bring in $150,000,000, reduction of exemptions under the theatre tax from 45 cents to 10 cents to bring in $55,000,000 more, and the 1922 income tax rates to raise another $70,000,000. This alternate plan would bring in $275,000,000.

At the time of his marriage to the former Miss Mullens, Sir John settled 15,000 pounds annually on him in the form of a trust fund. They were married in August, 1928, a short while after "The Three New Yorkers" had put on a private exhibition of their act during a party at Sir John's West End home.

According to the evidence thus far obtained, 26 men and women attended the cocktail party, which began about 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

Almost 12 hours later, after Stephens had left the apartment with some of the other guests only to return again, nearby residents heard four shots fired in quick succession. While the unfamiliar echoes of the fusillade were still ringing through Onable Knightsbridge, where the apartment is situated, a woman was heard to cry out:

"Oh! Chicken, Chicken! Come back darling, I am sorry darling. Come back Michael!"

After making a full statement to police Mrs. Barney was permitted to return to her parents' home in Belgrave Square, Mayfair.

W. E. Knight Funeral.

Funeral services for Walter Elmer Knight, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Knight, Mercer, R. D. 7, were held from the home Saturday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Henry Beatty of the Nazareth Episcopal church officiating.

A male trio sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Rock of Ages" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Gorgeous floral tributes marked the sympathy of friends and relatives. Flower boys were James Schepp, Earl Knight, Arthur Lowry, John Lowry, Thomas Smith and Kenneth Smith.

Interment was made in Woodlawn cemetery, Grove City, with James Oakes, Clyde Oakes, Lester Mathelison and Ray Truan as pallbearers.

J. Scott Shaw.

Friends in the community were shocked to learn of the death of J. Scott Shaw, formerly of Slippery Rock township, which occurred suddenly Saturday, May 28, at a hospital in Denver, Colorado, following an operation.

Mr. Shaw moved to Grand Junction, Colorado, in 1912, where he was engaged in the automobile business. He was an active member of the Grand Junction Presbyterian church and a teacher in the Sunday school for many years and was interested in many civic organizations of that place.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Fisher Shaw and three children: Harold Fisher Shaw, and three children: Harold Fisher Shaw, Charles W. Quigley, this city, and Mrs. John C. Fisher of Grove City.

Funeral services will be held from his home, 1133 Ouray avenue, Grand Junction, Colo., Wednesday morning.

Harry Long Funeral

Funeral services of the late Harry M. Long, held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Morgan, 1107 South Mercer street, were of an impressive nature, being attended by a large concourse of friends and relatives of the deceased.

Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor of the First Congregational church, former Legion chaplain at Bangor, Pa., was in charge of the services at the home and the committal at the grave.

A quartet consisting of George Anthony, Harry Evans, Mrs. Richard Morris and Miss Florine Davies, sang three selections: "Lead Kindly Light," "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Abide With Me."

The ceremonies at the grave in Plaingrove cemetery were entirely in charge of the service men with whom he had been associated in the war and were of a distinctive military character in every detail.

Both the American Legion and the Legion of Honor participated in these ceremonies, the Legion ritualistic burial service being carried out with dignity. The Legion of honor bugle and drum corps was present in a body and rendered a ruffled drum beat during the services.

Three volleys were fired over the grave by a firing squad from Troop F, after which taps were sounded by the Legion of Honor buglers.

The pallbearers were W. Walter Braham, Orville Brown, Joseph DePuy, Orville Potter, Major Guy D. Wadlinger and Ivor V. Davis.

Mrs. Davidson Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Davidson, Wampum R. D. 2, were held from the home Saturday afternoon, with Rev. J. C. Bingham, pastor of the Wampum Presbyterian church, officiating.

A quartet, W. H. McCullough, C. F. Miles, S. Henson and O. V. Douthett, sang "Abide With Me" and "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

Interment was made in Clinton cemetery, pallbearers being: Attorney James Rhodes, Lawrence Wilson, Dr. James Wilson, Edward McAnlis, Joseph Wilson and Francis McAnlis.

Mrs. Shaffer Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna E. Shaffer, 2302 Highland avenue, were held Saturday afternoon from the family residence, with Rev. C. W. Johnston of the Central Christian church, and Rev. Clarence Westover of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, officiating.

The body was surrounded by a profusion of gorgeous floral tributes, which attested to the popularity of the woman. Mrs. Harry Barber and Frances Gibson sang "Some Time We'll Understand," "Face to Face" and "In the Upper Garden" with Roy Strobel at the piano.

Pallbearers were R. Wink, P. Wink, N. Shrader, J. Wimer, W. Miller and F. Gorley. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Cynthia E. Rager.

Mrs. Cynthia E. Rager, aged 80, widow of James C. Rager, Enon Valley, died at 11:30 Saturday evening at the family home, after a long illness.

She was born at West Bridgewater October 17, 1851, the daughter of Samuel and Margaret Martberger Rager and was the last of her family. She had lived at Enon Valley the past sixty years and was a member of the Enon Presbyterian church.

Her husband preceded her in death eighteen years ago. She is survived by the following children: George W. and Charles E. Rager of Enon Valley; Louis C. Caskey, Beaver Falls; Mrs. Edward Green, Kane; Mrs. W. T. Alexander, Alliance, Ohio; Sue, at home; Mrs. W. L. Acheson, Alliance, Ohio, and James Verne Rager, Conway.

Funeral services were held this afternoon from the home with Rev. Charles Durbin of Chelton officiating. Interment was made in Little Beaver cemetery.

Allege Effort To Enter Home

Otto Furdu was held for hearing today by Alderman William E. Marshall on a charge of breaking and entering. It is alleged that he broke into a home on Charters street on Sunday night. His statement is that his wife was there and that he was under the influence of liquor. Finding ingress barred he tried to get in by using a punch bar.

POLICE SEEK MOTHER OF BABY LEFT AT JAMESON MEMORIAL

Police authorities are assisting the authorities of the Jameson Memorial Hospital in an effort to locate the mother of a day old baby left in that institution on May 25, 1932 by a girl, who gave the name of Rose Diana and claimed to reside at 203 Division street. She stated that the baby had been born the previous day at 101 First street, Ambridge, Pa., and that a Dr. Forsey had attended the baby. As she had not called or returned for the baby on Saturday, the assistance of the police was asked. No one by the name given by the girl could be located by Mrs. Minnie McKibben, city police woman, City Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch, and the address was found to be non-existent.

The hospital authorities located Dr. Forsey and found that the baby and mother had been at the Ambridge address on May 24, 1932 but was not there at the present time.

HICKS-BARBER MARRIAGE MONDAY

A pretty wedding took place Memorial Day, May 30, at 11 o'clock in the morning at St. Andrew's church when Miss Frances Hicks, daughter of Mrs. Sara Jane Hicks, of 764 Arlington avenue, became the bride of Donald Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Barber of 1505 Wilson avenue.

The nuptials were read in the presence of relatives and friends, the Rev. Samuel Black, pastor, officiating with the ring ceremony. Lovely in a gown of white satin, fashioned with ankle length skirt and fitted bodice, the bride wore a hat and accessories to match, and carried an arm bouquet of callalilies. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Evans were the attendants, the latter wearing a frock of turquoise blue with accessories to harmonize and her flowers were of pink roses.

Following the congratulatory period a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother. The table beautiful in its pastel appointments, was centered with a large cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The couple left late in the afternoon for a week's motor trip. They will visit Niagara Falls, Canada and other places of interest, and upon their return will reside at 764 Arlington avenue.

Mrs. Barber graduated from the New Castle Senior high school with the class of '23 and is associated with the Davis Shoe Company here. Mr. Barber, also a graduate of the local high school is employed with the State as a landscape architect. Out of town guests were present at the ceremony from Niles, Ohio.

Richard Reunion Held

The fifth annual reunion of the descendants of Henry Richard was held at the Liberty Grange Hall on the Harlanburg road Memorial day, May 30, being present. Dinner was enjoyed, and a program of amusements was featured. Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Robert Ruby; vice, Scott Richard; secretary, Ida Richard and treasurer, Frank Forrest.

WALLER-McNICHOLAS NUPTIALS SATURDAY

A pretty wedding of interest took place Saturday evening when Miss Ruth Waller of Highland avenue, daughter of George Waller, was united in marriage to Ernest McNicholas, son of John McNicholas of 919 Beckford street.

The ceremony was performed at Butler, with the Rev. Herbert Baum, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Mrs. Edward Linton and Earl Miller, both of New Castle, were the attendants. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom's mother at a suitable hour, with covers being laid for members of the immediate families.

Mr. McNicholas and his bride will take up their residence in their newly furnished home at 228 Fern street, this city.

S. E. B. Class

Mrs. H. W. Burgess of Lincoln avenue received associates of the S. E. B. Class in her home Friday evening with Mrs. Lucy Marquis, Mrs. Howard Biddle and Mrs. T. J. Hamilton as joint hostesses.

A short business period was called with Mrs. E. B. Hawkins presiding. Elaborate plans were formulated for the picnic outing to be held June 16 in the garden of Prof. and Mrs. Thacker. The committee to assist includes Mrs. W. C. Meechem, Mrs. James Elmore, Mrs. W. A. Womer, Miss Laura Marquis, B. K. Thacker. Husbands will be special guests on this occasion.

After devotional lead by Mrs. H. W. Burgess, a social time was enjoyed with numerous guessing contests being indulged in and much pleasure derived. A delicious buffet lunch was later served. Baskets of valen- lilies were used throughout in decorations.

Shover-Clark Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shover, West Euclid avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Evelyn Given Shover, to Russell Daughett Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark of the Wilson road.

The ceremony was performed Saturday, May 28, at Mercer in the parsonage of the Presbyterian church, with Rev. Claude F. Conley officiating. The couple was unattended.

After June 1 Mr. and Mrs. Clark will be home at 420 East Leasure avenue.

Hunt Reunion

The Hunt Reunion will be held Wednesday, June 8 at Willard Grange Hall on the Frew Mill road.

D. A. R. Will Meet At West Middlesex

Monthly Meet To Be Held At Home Of Mrs. Harry
Mason, Saturday

Members of the Lawrence Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold their monthly meet in June, outside the county it was announced today. The meeting will be held Saturday afternoon June 4 at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Harry Mason, who lives about a mile out of West Middlesex.

To get to Mrs. Mason's the members will drive through New Wilmington to the first paved street in West Middlesex, turn left here and down across the bridge keeping to the right at the forks beyond the bridge. The Mason home is about a mile beyond the village.

This is the regular monthly meeting, and in addition to the routine affairs, delegates will be elected to the annual convention of the organization to be held in York, Pa., in October.

H. G. L. GIRLS GUESTS SATURDAY

Miss Jean McClain of Waldo street, entertained members of the H. G. L. Girls Club in her home Saturday evening. The hours were devoted to a card contest with lovely prizes for honors going to the Misses Ruth Strobel and Irene Williams.

At an appropriate hour, the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Cowan McClain, served a dainty repast. The table was prettily appointed in the seasons tones, with a bouquet of summer flowers gracing the center. Covers were laid for all members and one special guest, Miss Helen Kirkwood.

On Friday, June 10, Mrs. Herman Richards of Maryland avenue, will have club.

Loyal Workers Class Outing

Most enjoyable was the outing held for the Loyal Workers class of the Kings Chapel church when they motored to Millcreek park Memorial Day for an outing. Thirty-two participated and a program of contests including musball, volley ball and a field meet in charge of Ralph McFarland added much to the day's pleasure. Prizes were won in the contests by Jimmie Williams, Anna Robinson, Lettie Schriever, Charles Robinson, Bennett Langdon and Dan Hoadley.

Later in the day they went to the home of Charles and Anna Robinson on the Wilmington road and there were served dinner, followed by entertainment.

In bringing the evening to a close all went to the home of Thomas Clark and serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Russell Clark, a bride and groom of recent date.

Attend Titusville Event

An enjoyable event took place over the week-end when George Mitchell, of Titusville entertained guests at a barn dance as a means of celebration of the birthday anniversary of his daughter, Mrs. Taley Bevan of New Castle.

Dancing was the main diversion and at a suitable hour a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Kennedy and Miss Mitchell. Those attending from New Castle included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kennedy and daughter Delores, Mr. and Mrs. Taley Bevan and son George, Arthur Mitchell, Miss Mitchell and Emile Pellissier, the latter from Ellwood City.

Approximately 100 Titusville residents participated.

Guests At Freepoint

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ray and son Harry Reed, Mrs. Nora McCann, of Neshannock avenue, and Robert Jones, the latter Mrs. Ray's father, motored to Freepoint, Pa., Memorial Day, and visited Miller McCormick and Mrs. Carrie Harbison.

Holiday Observed At Field Club House

Memorial Day was fittingly observed at the New Castle Field Club house when its membership gathered at the club rooms to participate in the program especially planned for their entertainment as a means of celebration.

Golf was featured throughout the day and also tennis formed a pleasant pastime. From 12 to 2 o'clock luncheon was served in the dining-room with an informal period following. Dinner was served during the hours of 6 to 7:45 o'clock, and from 9 to 1 p. m. dancing was in vogue to an excellent program of music.

Cards were in play with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lary acting as hosts. This lasted from 9 until 11:30 o'clock and at the conclusion of the contests, Mr. and Mrs. W. Duff were given individual prizes for their successes in capturing high honors.

Neighborhood Club

The Neighborhood Birthday club was entertained Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Vane Johns, East Brook road, with one o'clock luncheon as the feature of the hours.

The tables were arranged on the lawn and decorated in pastel shades, with covers laid for twenty-one. A delicious menu was served.

Games and sewing were the diversion after the afternoon.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Bertha Blaine and Mrs. W. B. Baker of Struthers, Ohio, and Mrs. Earl Refner, Youngstown, Ohio. Mrs. W. R. Carmichael, Meyer avenue, will entertain the club, June 17.

Ministers Wives Club

Mrs. Margaret Hanna, Lincoln avenue, received the members of the Ministers' Wives club in her home Monday evening for the monthly social session.

Mrs. A. J. Randles, wife of the resigning pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, said farewell to the club members at this time as the family will leave this week for Pittsburgh.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of an evening spent in conversation and games.

W. M. L. H. Club

The W. M. L. H. club motored to Kennedy's Mills Memorial Day and enjoyed an outing, and from there went to Rock Springs where a delicious picnic dinner was served. During the leisure periods, musball formed a feature diversion.

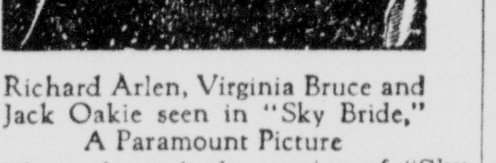

They motored to Yankee Lake later in the evening, where the event was concluded.

On Wednesday, June 8, the regular meeting of the club will be held at the home of Miss Ethel Uber on Lathrop street.

Kappa Delta Alumnae

Members of the Kappa Delta Alumnae association held a meeting Saturday evening with Miss Margaret Tucker of 515 West Washington street. Scrap books were prepared to be sent to the children of the hospital in Virginia supported by this organization.

WEDDING OCCURS IN DOWNTOWN CHURCH

At a nuptial ceremony performed at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the First Christian church, Miss Phoebe Dufford, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Dufford, 810 Arlington avenue, became the bride of William J. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Jones of 1301 Wilmington avenue.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church where the wedding was solemnized, officiated. Only the immediate members of both families were present.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom departed for a motor tour of Ohio, West Virginia and parts of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Jones is in the employ of the local branch of Standard Brands, Inc., while Mrs. Jones is associated with the W. J. Offutt company.

After their return here, they will reside at the home of the bride's mother on Arlington avenue.

FRATERNITY SPRING EVENT AT CLUB HOUSE

All plans are in readiness for the annual spring formal dinner-dance to be given by the Sadler Alpha fraternity of Thiel College, Greenville, Pa., at the New Castle Field Club house, Thursday evening of this week. It is anticipated forty-eight couple will participate on this occasion.

William H. Mackley, chairman, and his committee are in charge.

Birthdays Honored

Honoring the fourth birthday anniversary of her daughter Ruth and the sixth of her son Dick, Mrs. Frances Fisher of Sheet street entertained a group of sixteen little guests in her home Saturday afternoon.

The young ones were kept occupied with games and contests and at a suitable hour lunch was served. A large cake topped with lighted candles graced the center of the table, and novel favors marked each place.

Many lovely gifts were received by the guests of honor in memory of the day.

WHICH SIDE OF THE ROAD

THE Royal Automobile Club of Canada is struggling with the question of the proper side of the road for the pedestrian to take. It wants a definite law to relieve motorists from too great a burden of responsibility. As it is, the pedestrian has the privilege of choosing whichever side he pleases. Even if he is reasonably careful, there is constant danger of accidents, particularly in darkness or thick weather. It would no doubt be an advantage to both motorist and pedestrian if the latter were confined to one side of the road; and the left is indicated as the safer side.

It is becoming a general custom in these parts for the pedestrian to face the oncoming traffic. If he walks on the left he can do this. But if he walks on the right a careless step aside may bring him into collision with the overtaking traffic, which he can not see and often can not hear until it is close upon him. The motorist is under the trifling disadvantage in this case of having to swerve slightly towards the centre of the road, however narrow it may be, to avoid the pedestrian; but this is certainly preferable to running him down.

The problem could be best solved if our roads were built with two side paths—one for the pedestrian and one for the horseman. The hard concrete favored by motorists is not agreeable either to the foot or the hoof. As a rule the main thoroughfares could be built in this fashion without making them unduly wide. The general trend in road construction has been to consider the motorist only. He may be the chief user of the roads in these days; but there is no good reason why the comfort and safety of walkers, as well as riders of horses and bicycles, should not be consulted. Both these classes of traffic are all but driven off the roads under present conditions.

"DECADENCE"

Detractors of things American like to speak of the people of the United States as decadent, as already in that process of decline which some historians believe inevitable after a nation's rise to greatness. They deal in generalities and charges, never citing cases or proof. They are sincere in their belief and fears, but they are wrong in their deductions. They think our decadence merely because we refuse to think and act as they would have us.

Their reasoning is as illogical as that of Charlie Paddock, the sprinter, who thinks American athletes are going down hill and attributes it to prohibition. He might more sensibly have said that the automobile is weakening the leg power of modern man.

Unless the public has been misinformed most shamefully, the American athlete still holds his own against all comers. He still smashes records and takes the majority of the prizes, and that is pretty good evidence of something other than decadence.

THIRD PARTIES

Third-party movements in this presidential year probably will not develop to the nominating and campaigning stage because of an excess of issues rather than a lack of them.

There is more third-party feeling than in many years, but this feeling is divided among half a dozen or more "causes" which would not consent to being herded into a single platform. No ticket could fly all of these new colors.

The threatened third party of which Senator Borah hints would have for its chief plank a comprehensive unemployment relief program. Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, is apparently bidding for a third-party nomination on a federal dole, and confiscation of wealth by taxation.

While it might be possible to unite the Borah and Pinchot cohorts behind a common candidate, their leadership would not play with the wets who Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and, perhaps, Al Smith would like to see bring out an independent ticket in November. Nothing short of a miracle could bring the Pinchot "Progressives" and the Butler "Liberals" into the same camp.

There are more likely to be several "third parties" than there is to be one this year and that will mean none will constitute a real threat to the two major parties.

MAYOR WALKER'S CIRCUS

Mayor Walker's attitude of flippant defiance before the Hofstadter legislative committee investigating conditions in New York's municipal offices, is what one would expect of him.

Resplendent in his jaunty attire and full of the wise-cracking verbiage which has made him his city's leading showman, he is making a belated appearance in defending himself against much incriminating evidence which has piled up and which needs explaining.

The Hofstadter committee, under direction of its counsel, Judge Seabury, has moved throughout its whole investigation as a body seeking the truth. The results thus far have disclosed the need of searching inquiry into the Tammany administration, to which Mayor Walker openly acknowledges subservience.

So far Mayor Walker has been searching and pointed questions with affectations of levity or anger and facetious bandinage that have transformed the decorum of the court into a circus performance.

Mayor Walker may scorn the imputations against his reputation and lay them to improper and partisan motives but the public will not be inclined to accept a "smart-aleck" defense against accusations that would sober any ordinary and innocent man into frantic and immediate efforts to pin upon them the badge of falsehood.

Small Boy Praying for a Bicycle
And Getting It
You Believe in Prayer

By MARSHALL MASLIN

LORD, HOW I used to pray! When I wanted something and thought I'd die if I didn't get it, I spent hours in prayer. . . I'd touch every post on the way to school, I'd avoid every crack in the sidewalk, I'd count everything by threes, I'd wet my thumb and slap my palm every time I saw a white horse. I'd be a very good boy.

I prayed silently, persistently, religiously, in bed. There wasn't any of this loud white figure by the side of the bed with his head bowed over the cover. . . I said my prayers after I got under the covers, and though they were silent, they were long. My idea seemed to be that if I humbled myself and asked God to "make me a good boy" it was quite all right, immediately afterwards, to ask him to "get me a new bicycle." . . Even if I was fighting with my brother one minute later because he was too far over on my side of the bed.

I prayed and I prayed and I prayed . . . but I helped God, too. I went out and got myself a newspaper route that paid $5 a month for getting up at 5 in the morning, summer and winter, rain or clear. . . I used the $5 to buy a new bicycle with. You could buy a bicycle for $5 down and $5 a month, and you have to have a bicycle for your newspaper route. So, you see, you made just enough to pay for the bicycle that you had to have. . . And by the time you got the bicycle paid for it was worn out and you could buy a new one. But you always had to use it during the day—to ride to school and practice tricks on and run errands and so forth.

And after all these years I'm certain of one thing. Although I hardly believe God paid much attention to my windy prayers, I am sure He was amused at the picture of a small boy praying for a bicycle and then working so hard to get one and being so thankful that his prayers were answered. . . I know He understood that after a while even the most tireless praying person stops praying for things and prays in his own fashion, because it is the only way he can be alone on this earth with a power that is so much more tremendous than his little life, his little wishes, his little agonies.

After I stopped praying for bicycles I thought many years that I did not pray at all. . . Now I believe that all men and women, in some way or other, pray every day of their lives, and that everybody believes in prayer.

Japanese Premier's Death Laid To Resentful Jingoism

Military Dictators, Unable To Prevent Growth Of Constitutional Government, Believed By Americans To Have Shown Weakness In Assassination

While some Americans look upon the assassination of Premier Inukai of Japan as a gain for the strong arm of the military caste, the majority interpret the act as evidence of resentment at the growth of popular government. The Premier himself represented the military class they will resist the army's attempt to dictate. Let us hope their courage is backed by knowledge that their Emperor, too, is courageous.

The Japanese nation, according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "has won a high and legitimate place in the world's esteem through the practice of the peaceful arts. The world believes that insensate militarism, as expressed by such events as this shocking affair, misrepresents the Japanese people as a whole."

It is doubtful whether the dreams of the militarists can be realized in the opinion of the SAN JOSE MERCURY HERALD, which points out that "industry is powerful, and it does not want a government dominated by the army and navy."

The paper adds that "the workers are organized and have the same consciousness as Western workers" and that "they want a state which will make their aims, aspirations and welfare its concern."

The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS believes that "the mad act of extreme nationalism probably will not block Japan's progress in developing a constitutional government, despite the present impediments." The Express takes note of the fact that "universal manhood suffrage, granted a few years ago, after a long struggle, has aroused most Japanese to the need for stronger Constitutional guarantees and the prevention of a return to conditions which would be worse than the feudal system that Emperor Mutsuhito abolished in 1867."

"If resistance to their program was so strong in Japan as to cause assassination," says the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, "there is evidence of a peace and anti-militarist sentiment which can only be strengthened by these latest events."

"The situation," in the opinion of the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE "depends greatly upon the Emperor, his character and who has his ear. He has an opportunity now, if he has the moral strength, to put his country where it belongs, in the forefront of enlightened leadership, or if he falls in with the glory-mad Chosui generals, to throw it back to the days of Hideyoshi, the principles of Genhish Khan. If the Mikado does not personally the moral course age much, perhaps, depends upon the aged Prince Saionji, sole survivor of the Elder Statesmen who carried Japan through her transformation from medievalism to modernism, now on his way to counsel with his Emperor. . . . The liberals, headed by Wakatsuki, demand that they will resist the army's attempt to dictate. Let us hope their courage is backed by knowledge that their Emperor, too, is courageous."

The danger of further gains by the military power is emphasized by the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, the TORONTO DAILY STAR and the BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD. The DES MOINES TRIBUNE feels that the assassination "tells the world of grave political instability" observing that "economic distress is superimposed upon an essentially unstable governmental set-up, a set-up that is half medieval in the midst of all the problems of the modern industrial world."

"Within an average lifetime," according to the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, "the whole scheme of existence in the Far East has been transformed by the activities of a race which has negotiated the journey from a feudal system to a place among the five great world powers. Nothing parallel to the progress of the Japanese people exists in history, but the wonder always has been modified by the suspicion of superficiality which accompanied the march. There are those who assert that the Japanese development is purely superficial and has no greater depth than a remarkable ability to adopt for their own uses the items of military establishment necessary for control of Asiatic areas and the auxiliary units of industry needed for furnishing a substantial base for the modernized Samurai ethics."

"Disregard and even contempt for the civil arm of the government," is seen by the BOISE IDAHO STATESMAN, with the conclusion that "it was evident to observers that the ruling motive was the desire of the soldiers to put to use the magnificent machine of destruction they had created."

The NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE says "an attempt by this blow at a thoughtful regime, to strike down conservatism," and voices the hope as to the influence of the slain officer that "the old statesman's leadership will have established a sufficient following of his own kind to hold head against the inordinate ambitions that have sprouted in the younger military soil."

THE CALMER LIFE

What more from life does man require
Than raiment, bed and food and fire?
With these, though humble they may be,
The spring flowers blossoming he can see.
The joy of laughter he can know,
Can watch his little garden grow,
Find friendship and in countless ways
Make interesting all his days.

How many years shall man in vain
Seek peace from luxury and gain?
Though well it is to high goals to reach,
This truth alone success can teach:
That no estate from care is free,
And only he can happy be
Who, rich or poor, has faith to grace
With tenderness the common place.

The happiness man hopes to find
Is truly of the heart and mind;
A gift that lies himself within.
Not something he must fight to win.
Though rich or poor who plays the man
And does the little that he can
Time's ordinary tasks to share
Can fill life's purpose anywhere.

THE MAN WHO TRIES

To explain truth to another usually makes it a little plainer for himself.
To give some one happiness always finds it coming back to him.
To demonstrate his religion will not need to argue it so angrily.
To cheat the government cheats himself.
To silence his conscience finds that it speaks even in silence.
To kill time finds that it goes right on.
To deceive the world usually deceives only himself.

FALSE VALUES

Meat Eating Problems One Of Common Sense

"Among the many diet fads thatirk us today is that of vegetarianism. Thanks to high-powered publicity and the natural enthusiasm of devotees, there is an all too general impression abroad that meat somehow is harmful to the smooth-running of the human body. The fact that certain internationally famous individuals subsist on vegetables and nuts alone, adds impressive weight to such claims," states Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"At the outset it may emphatically be stated that a reasonable amount of meat daily for the average normal healthy person is very excellent and entirely within the natural bodily demands. The very shape of the teeth indicate that nature intended humans to use the flesh of animals for food. Moreover, there is no evidence to prove that the continuous eating of meat throughout life is conducive to disease. If such were the case, literally millions of our forefathers and mothers, heavy meat eaters that they were, would have suffered from all sorts of dire and life-shortening maladies. Which emphatically they did not. The fact that in a sense they had a more active, less sedentary life and possibly did not need as much animal food as we do, does not militate against the argument. Nor in connection must one forget the millions of healthy meat-eating contemporaries.

"However, an entirely different proposition arises in the presence of certain diseases. For example, if the kidneys become impaired, the reduction of meat eating upon the physician's advice is entirely proper for reasons unnecessary to mention at this time. But the point to be stressed is that by no means follows that the plight of the kidneys was connected with eating meat in the first instance. Causes and treatment of disease are two very different propositions.

"Meat, therefore, is not the hijacker of health as many persons have been led to believe that it is. It is an essential food element which is nutritious and affords the body certain constituents highly desirable for health.

"Of course, it is entirely possible for anyone to eat too much meat, as it is equally possible for one habitually to eat too much of any other type of food. But this fact is in no way connected with the misguided notion that meat is unhealthy for healthy persons.

"The fact that persons can subsist on a vegetable and nut diet does not prove that meat is harmful any more than the fact that those within the Arctic circle living successfully on an exclusive meat diet blackens the eye of the vegetables.

"The meat problem, like most problems, simply boils itself down to assuming a common sense attitude towards it. Fanatical underconsumption or over-consumption of meat should both be tabooed."

New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—Pennsylvania has received almost twice as much of the flour from the free farm board wheat as any other state in the nation, the American Red Cross announced Saturday.

The Red Cross has approved applications from the Keystone state for 223,411 barrels of the free flour. This is a greater amount than granted to any other state in the nation thus far, Ohio coming second with an assignment of 148,795 barrels.

Families being fed by the free flour are also more numerous in Pennsylvania than in any other state, totaling 250,701. Ohio has 149,917 families being so aided.

for other cigarettes?

WE do not criticize others. We merely call your attention to the fact that the vital subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising.

Why? What's there to be afraid of? Everybody inhales! Seven out of ten smokers inhale knowingly—the other three do so without realizing it. From your side—you want to be sure that the smoke you breathe in is pure and clean—free from certain impurities.

But from the manufacturer's side—he should be sure of giving you this protection. And if he is sure—he need not worry about the question: "Do you inhale?"

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

TO DEDICATE MEMORIAL TO DR. FERGUSON ON SATURDAY

Class Of '07 To Honor Memory Of Former President Of College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 31.—As part of the annual alumni day activities at Westminster College this Saturday afternoon, a memorial to Dr. Robert Gracey Ferguson, president of the college from 1884 to 1906, will be dedicated.

The memorial, donated by the class of 1907, will be unveiled with fitting ceremonies following the annual alumni meeting Saturday afternoon. President Robert F. Galbreath, president of the class of 1907, will officiate.

Dr. Ferguson, born at Dry Run, Pa., in 1842, died November 8, 1926. He was for many years "Westminster's grand old man." During his fruitful career, he was a soldier in the Civil War, pastor of churches in Mercersburg and Butler, president of Westminster, and moderator of the United Presbyterian church.

Following the singing of "America," led by Professor Alan by Davis, President Galbreath will take charge of the ceremonies. J. Reade McGarry, Cambridge, O., a member of the class of 1907, will deliver the main address. The Rev. Dr. James Ferguson, Bellevue, class of 1897, will give the prayer.

The unveiling ceremony will be drawn by Miss Mel Eckerson, Washington, Pa., great granddaughter of Dr. Ferguson. Following the dedication of the memorial stone, the audience will sing the Westminster hymn, led by Professor Davis.

The stone, placed near the Main street entrance to Old Main Memorial, has a bronze marker on which the name of Dr. Ferguson, his birth and death, dates of his presidency of Westminster, and the class of 1907 as donors.

CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES IN DOUBLE CEREMONY

getting under way on Sunday evening with the water service of the G. A. R. at the North Street bridge over the Shenango river and followed by the Memorial Sunday sermon and service later the same evening in the First Christian church.

Water Service

Various patriotic and service organizations participated in the annual water service of the Ladies of the G. A. R. in memory of the soldiers and sailors, who died at sea, formed in parade formation at the city building under the direction of William McKinley Reynolds, chief marshal shortly before seven o'clock.

The formation included the marchers, the Sons of Union Veterans Drum Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Sons of Union Veterans Auxiliary, Woman's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans, Service Star Legion, Auxiliaries of the Spanish War Veterans, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Civil War Veterans, Sons of Veterans Reserve, Sons of Union Veterans, United Spanish War Veterans, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans.

Featuring the march to the North Street Bridge was the presence in the parade formation of two civil war veterans, C. B. Hamilton and J. B. Caldwell, both of whom are near the four score and ten mark in years. A. R. Kerr another veteran was at the scene of the services.

This service was opened with the singing of "Nearer My God To Thee" by the choir of the Central Presbyterian church, leading the large concourse of people. Dr. C. B. Winger, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, then led in prayer, after which there was a special selection by the choir.

Dr. Winger then delivered a forceful address on the occasion being observed, stating that "it is right that we should honor the patriotic dead and that we do so not only by such services as those held at this season of the year, but in our every day life by keeping those ideals for which these veterans of all wars gave their lives, ever before us. In their sacrifices in maintaining these ideals they have influenced this country and the world. It is only by maintaining these ideals, that we will really honor these brave dead and maintain our place in the world."

The address was followed by a selection by the Sons of Union Veterans Drum Corps, after which the regular water service of the Ladies of the G. A. R. with Mrs. Minnie Mayers presiding were carried out, being climaxed with a selection by the choir and the strewing of many flowers on the waters of the Neshannock Creek, while the flags of the various orders were kept waving.

Three volleys were then fired by the Sons of Veterans Reserve, after which taps were sounded by George Partington of that organization, with Ralph Carlson responding in echo from the Washington street bridge. The singing of "America" brought this service to a close.

The parade then reformed and the entire group marched to the First Christian church, where the regular Memorial Sunday evening service was held before an audience that filled the spacious auditorium.

Dr. W. W. Sniff presided at this service. After an appropriate organ prelude by Mary Virginia Patterson, the entire audience sang America. Dr. Sniff read the scripture lesson after which he led in prayer.

The church quartet Mrs. Schenck, Miss Garvin, Mr. Johns and Mr. Lewis, sang a beautiful selection, "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Shelley. The offertory number was "Andante" after which Mr. Lewis sang "There is no Death."

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster College, the speaker of the evening, presented an address, taking as his theme "George Washington" and what he stands for in the life of this country.

It was a masterful discourse, into which was interwoven by the speaker, a powerful object lesson for those of the present day and generation. In which was brought forth those characteristics of the "Father of His Country," which if permitted to continue to prevail in the affairs of this land, will mean its perpetuity and rightful place among the nations of the world.

Dr. Galbreath showed an intimate study of the life of George Washington and those generations of his family who preceded him, bringing out hitherto little known facts, which established beyond a shadow of doubt to his listeners, who followed his every word with rapid attention, the reason why Washington was the really great leader that he proved to be.

It seemed, Dr. Galbreath stated that it was only natural that Washington should be the leader of his fellow countrymen in the establishment of a government in which all were declared "free and equal," for some four hundred years prior to the time of Washington, one of his ancestors, a preacher, found himself in trouble in England because of his determined utterance that "all men are created free and equal." Dr. Galbreath stated.

It was only natural, Dr. Galbreath stated, that Washington should be outstanding in his religious attitude, for it was one of the established traits of his people.

Dr. Galbreath summarized his wonderful address by declaring that Washington Lives On. In the presence of the living God, he stands a man of might, valour, deep devotion, nobility and courage, even an inspiration for the generations that follow him.

The service was brought to a close with the singing of "God Bless Our Native Land" and benediction by Dr. Sniff.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day observance was climaxed by the final services Monday morning at the Penn Theatre and Greenwood Memorial Park.

The parade was one of the most spectacular and pleasing Memorial Day features in many years. Everything worked like clockwork, due to the efficient handling of the parade formation by William McKinley Reynolds, chief marshal and his aides, Fred L. Rantz, Honorary Marshal, G. A. R. Division, Major Guy J. Wadlinger, J. Glenn Berry, John LaRue, William Dickson, David Parks, R. M. Campbell, John D. Kennedy, Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, Dr. Raymond G. Lutz, Paul A. Welsh, Dr. Wilbur T. McCullough, W. E. Terver, Thomas Edmunds, James Brice, Homer Drake, Wilbert Chapman, James Moorhead and C. C. Green.

Music was furnished for the occasion by the Senior High School Band directed by Joseph F. Reppel. Veterans of Foreign Wars Bugle and Drum Corps, Legion of Honor Bugle and Drum Corps, and Sons of Union Veterans Fife and Drum Corps.

The Drum corps was snappy in appearance and performance and a real added attraction to the parade formation.

The parade formation included Troop F, which presented a wonderful appearance. Spanish War Veterans, World War Nurses, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Ladies of the G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans, Sons of Union Veterans Auxiliary, Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary, Service Star Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, American Legion Auxiliary, Company K, Sons of Veterans Reserve, Sons of Union Veterans and Civil War Veterans in cars.

Service at the Penn Theatre started at 9:30 a. m. R. M. Campbell, Past Division Commander of the Pennsylvania Sons of Union Veterans presided. Seated on the stage with the chairman was six veterans of the civil war, the commanders of the various service organizations, the speaker, Charles Warren Johnstone, Rev. Alfred M. Stump and Rex Rowland.

After a selection by the high school band, the audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Rev. Alfred M. Stump then led in prayer.

The Girls' Vocal Ensemble of Senior High School directed by Miss Mary Long then gave a selection, Rex Rowland followed with Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Then followed another selection by the Girls' Vocal Ensemble.

Charles Warren Johnstone, orator of the day, followed with an address that had a sympathetic appeal to the audience of several hundred people and left a deep and lasting impression on the minds of all.

Mr. Johnstone, a southerner by birth and veteran of the World War, and a minister of the gospel, being the pastor of the Central Christian church, extolled the valour and virtues of the veterans of all wars and what they had done for this country and at the same time made a powerful plea for peace.

Not a peace, however, with dishonor, but a peace in which all nations of the world shall join, when all have laid aside their jealousies and dissensions. Until that time he urged that this nation should be prepared to defend those things for which the veterans of all wars have given their lives and energies.

He said, in part: "There is no blessing that does not come of the sacrifices of others. The blessings we have today are the result of the sacrifices of the veterans of all wars. We must keep faith with these men."

"I hate war; I do not want my sons to be required to participate in the terrible things that I did during more than four years of the late World War, but I do not believe in total disarmament, which would mean the surrender of all these things for which these veterans of honor, but a peace in which all nations of the world shall join, when all have laid aside their jealousies and dissensions. Until that time he urged that this nation should be prepared to defend those things for which the veterans of all wars have given their lives and energies.

Until that time comes I believe in an adequate army and navy to protect those things which we now enjoy and for which those whom we honor today sacrificed and died. Until that time let us work and pray for disarmament but only that our ideals may not suffer."

The service closed with the singing of "America" and benediction by Rev. Stump.

Final Services

The parade reformed and proceeded to Greenwood Memorial Park for the concluding service of the day. Here as the sun shone brightly the United Spanish War Veterans held their ritualistic service at the soldiers' plot. M. J. Howard acted as chaplain, F. S. Nesle as officer of the day and Walter S. Reynolds as orator. The last act of the service was the laying of bouquets of flowers on each of the graves by Boy Scouts at the direction of F. S. Nesle, officer of the day. The senior high school band played the National Anthem during the service.

The concluding act of the service was three volleys by the Sons of Veterans Reserve and taps sounded by George Partington at the plot and Ralph Carlson and Fred Warner from a distance, in turn.

The Civil War veterans participating in this and the Penn Theatre service, seven in number, were D. M. Clark, commander of Post No. 100, C. B. Hamilton, adjutant, A. R. Kerr, Philip Wagner, J. B. Caldwell, Frank E. Cunningham and John Baker of Corsica, Pa., who is visiting in the city at the present time.

Following the service at the soldiers' plot the parade reformed for North Jefferson street, where it passed in review before the veterans of the Civil War and then disbanded at the Legion Home.

Seated on the auditorium platform were the choir members and the two principal speakers of the evening, Dr. Bennett and Rev. Stump.

PACKED HALL FOR SENIORS' SERVICE

Evening's Program
After the processional march, Rev. Stump led the large congregation in the singing of "Come, Thou Almighty King." Then he pronounced the invocation.

The choir next sang "Forewell Anthem" by Lutkin, after which the scripture was read and prayer was offered by Rev. Stump.

A second vocal number, "Emite Spiritum Tuum," by Schuckky, was heard, and then Dr. Bennett preached his impressive sermon.

The singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" by the audience and the pronouncing of the benediction closed the program while the audience awaited the departure of the senior class. The students left to the strains of "March Militaire" by Schubert.

In his timely and well-chosen sermon to the graduates, Dr. Bennett said in part:

"ARE YE ABLE?"
In the tenth chapter of the Gospel of Mark there is recorded the incident of the two apostles, James and John, who came to Jesus with the request that they might sit one on his right hand and one on his left when His Kingdom should be established. These two men shared the common belief of the other followers of Jesus that He was about to establish an earthly kingdom which they believed would mean the conquest of Rome. It was undoubtedly because of this common belief that these two disciples came to Jesus with their request that when this momentous event occurred they desired the two most prominent places.

Jesus did not rebuke them for their desire for prominence, and greatness but instead He said: "Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink the cup that I am about to drink?" What He meant by this question was that it is possible for you to achieve greatness in My Kingdom but in order to do so you must be willing to pay the price that all great men have to pay for success. So, he said to them, "Are ye able?"

This is the question that I ask of the young people of this graduating class. To be honest with ourselves we must admit that we are living in different times. I wish it were possible for me to paint as bright a picture for you as we could do a few years ago and tell you that the world is waiting with open arms to receive you and to shower its blessings and privileges upon you. But this we cannot do. We are in a period of great economic stress and social unrest and at present no one seems able to predict what the immediate future has in store for us. However, our situation is not hopeless by any means. We believe that there are still many opportunities awaiting the young people of this day.

In fact there never was a greater demand for leadership than there is right now but to secure this leadership or to achieve greatness in any field of endeavor we will have to work much harder than heretofore. This means that we have the bigger price to pay if we are to accomplish these things. So I ask you, "Are ye able?"

The desire for greatness and prominence has been one of the most common of human desires in the history of man, a desire which in itself is very commendable. I believe that every member of this graduating class should go out of this room tonight with an earnest and sincere desire to make some real contribution to the social order of which we ourselves are a vital part. There is always a ready place awaiting those who can achieve greatness in the particular thing to which they may dedicate their lives. Whether it be in medicine or surgery, chemistry or electricity, or in any other part of the wide field of the modern sciences, there is presented to the young people of today a wonderful opportunity for achievement. The same holds true in the field of the radio and the aeroplane. Even in the field of politics and religion there never was a time when sincere leaders of ability were needed more than they are today.

However, if we are to be able to achieve greatness or to do anything worth while for our fellowmen there are a few simple but very necessary things we must seek to develop within ourselves before we shall be able to help others. The first of these things is faith in our government. We realize, of course, that our present system of government in this country may not be perfect but we all believe that it is the best that can be found anywhere in the world at the present time. Our government is fundamentally sound and the principles upon which it is founded are the highest both ethically and religiously and it is for these reasons that we believe our government is not ready to collapse. Should our government collapse there would be little hope for the rest of the world.

Another thing that we need to develop is a stronger faith in our social and economic institutions. It is true that a few of these have disappointed us in recent months although this number has been very small in comparison with the large number that exists. We all realize that a country of this size cannot exist without these institutions and instead of losing faith in them because a few have failed we should rather seek to develop an interest

And now to you, the members of the senior class, I congratulate you on what you have achieved so far but the great unknown future is now before you. Your pathway into this unknown future may not always be a path of ease and pleasure but we do believe great opportunities are before you. However, if you are going to render such service as we believe you to be capable of rendering to your country, to your fellowmen, and to your God you must be willing to pay the price. Your work in the future may be fraught with difficulties, you may have many disappointments, but if you are willing to pay the price a glorious future may await you. To accomplish this, however, you will need to develop a more vital faith in your government, a sincere confidence in our social and economic institutions, and above all a stronger faith in our Heavenly Father. "Are ye able?"

Reprimand For Senator Fess

Senator Reed Of Pennsylvania Is Something Of A Philosopher

COMES TO AID OF PRESS GALLERY

By ARTHUR C. WIMER (Special Washington Correspondent) New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—Senator David Reed won for himself the reputation of a philosopher and a good newspaperman when he reprimanded Senator Simon Fess of Ohio for lecturing the senate press gallery.

Mr. Fess got to his feet in the senate and very indignantly lectured the correspondents in the gallery for spreading out stories misrepresenting the senate. He had been excited by the story written by the press gallery on the day before that a senator had been on the floor when the time came for the senate to meet.

Senator Reed listened to the plaintive protests of Fess as long as he could and then climbed out of his seat to offer this advice:

"Is not what the senator is complaining about just plain human nature? It is not the fault of the men in the press gallery. If they send some dispatches that Senator So-and-so is a highly intelligent and faithful public servant and working to hours a day, no newspaper would print it; and if a newspaper did print it, nobody would read it."

"If somebody came to the senator from Ohio ten minutes from now and told him that such and such a senator is a very able man and is working very hard and doing the work, I suspect the senator from Ohio would yawn and wish he could turn to something else. But if he came to the senator from Ohio and told him Senator So-and-so had committed a questionable offense, the senator from Ohio would not yawn, but he would listen. That is just human nature. What is the use of complaining about it?"

"There is no good use in complaining. I have made a pest of myself in the senate for years over the sales tax and yet just yesterday I received a telegram from a very highly intelligent Philadelphian asking why I do not take an interest in the proposal for a manufacturers' sales tax."

Mrs. Simonton Is Edenburg Speaker

Tells Of Historic Facts In Connection With Washington Trip Here

Mrs. F. G. Simonton, historian of the local chapter D. A. R., made an interesting address at Edenburg on Memorial Day in connection with the observance of the day there. Mrs. Simonton in her work as historian has come in touch with many sidelights on the life of George Washington; she established that Washington had visited the vicinity of Edenburg on one of his early visits and said that she hoped to prove the exact location on the Mahoning river where he had once crossed; Mrs. Simonton also disclosed the fact that a cousin of Washington had founded the Methodist church at Edenburg and one at New Castle also. Mrs. Simonton was introduced by Russell C. Hofmeister, who sketched briefly the nature and the importance of the work done by Mrs. Simonton in this field.

St. Mary's School Closes In Short Time

St. Mary's parochial school will close a very successful year on Tuesday, June 17. At that time the pupils of the various grades will receive their promotion certificates and the pupils of the eighth grade, who have successfully completed the course of study, will receive certificates admitting them to the junior high schools of the city.

And another phase of the relatively theory is the nepotism in Congress.—Lowell Evening Leader.

Preparedness Is Urged For U. S.

Pleds For Standing Army Of Sufficient Size To Guarantee Preparedness

RYE, N. Y., May 31.—Pleading for the maintenance of a standing army of sufficient size to guarantee preparedness, and urging that America keep awake in these times of change and turmoil, Brig.-General John Ross Delafield spoke at the annual Westchester County Memorial Day Observance here Monday.

Gen. Delafield cited the fact that participation in six wars had cost the United States more men and money than it should because of lack of preparedness. Penny-wise and Pound-Foolish was the attitude he argued that Americans have who stand for reduction of the army and navy.

The Five Year Russian plan he said was one of preparedness and that if Russia was permitted to prepare her army in the way she started that she will be a menace to the peace of the world. Gen. Delafield closed by urging every one present to write his congressman expressing disapproval of any bill which would weaken the defense preparedness of the United States.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT TOASTED ON TOP AND BOTTOM

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Bring Many Improvements

One of the new foods that is attracting attention is the improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. The new Kellogg's Biscuit is cooked by a special "pressure process" that bakes in delightful flavor and retains the full food value of the whole wheat. At the same time, it makes the biscuit easier to digest.

Every biscuit is toasted a rich, golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. They are more crispier. And they come in a more economical, convenient size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl and there are 15 to the package.

"Because of 'pressure-cooking,'" Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are unusually rich in food value. In fact, every package is certified by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia—which fact should be of special interest to mothers.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit and milk or cream are a delicious well-balanced food for both children and grown-ups—rich in minerals and vitamins. A tasty treat for breakfast, lunch, children's suppers—any meal.

Grocers are displaying this new shredded biscuit. You can identify it by the name, Kellogg's, and the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BOY SCOUTS
37 PATROL TRAINS.

A patrol in camping practice will be entered by the Kiwanis Troop 37 in the annual Lawrence county council's camporee at Camp John Phillips on June 7 and 8. Scoutmaster Dr. R. C. Lutz announces.

Tent-pitching was practiced by the boys when they met this week for a meeting in the Arthur McGill school. The boys lined up as follows:

George Horton, Jr., is the patrol leader; Crawford Lyon, assistant patrol leader; Howell Williams, cook; Bob Cole, assistant cook; Jim Gravenstreeter, woodman; George Large, assistant woodman; Bill Hoffman, messenger and Bob Young, waterman.

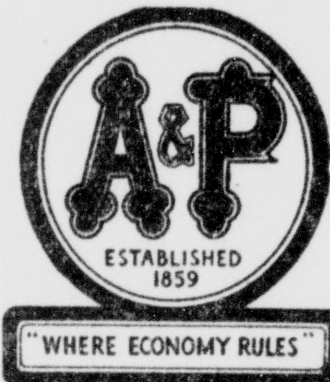

A man who likes to figure such things says a person's eyelids travel 7000 miles in winking during the course of a lifetime. Of course some may have seven more surprising winking mileage.

Firemen Busy Over Week End Period

Five Alarms Are Answered For Small Blazes During Last Three Days

Firemen were kept busy over the week end and Memorial Day when they answered five alarms, starting at 12:30 Saturday night. They were called out at that hour for a dump fire on North Jefferson street.

At 11:40 Sunday morning, they were called to the home of Hugh McKee of Highland avenue by a small roof fire, when sparks from the chimney set fire to a shingle roof. The loss was $5.

At 12:50 p. m., Sunday, they were called to the home of Mrs. H. M. Stevenson of 215 North Beaver street by a chimney fire. There was no damage.

At 6:10 Sunday evening, an alarm from Box 213 summoned them to the home of Joseph E. Brown of 513 Wildwood avenue, where sparks from the chimney set fire to a shingle roof, causing damage of $100.

At 4:10 Memorial Day morning they were called out by an alarm from Box 17 to extinguish a fire in a gasoline truck owned by the Pennzoil Company, which had started from the backfire of the carburetor. There was only small damage.

Plan To Appoint Policemen Today

Civil Service Board Has Been Asked To Furnish Eligible List

Following the request of Mayor C. B. Mayne, council today asked Councilman Genkinger's motion which asked the civil service board to present a list of eligible policemen so that appointments to at least two vacancies can be filled. Council took a recess to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon when the mayor will recommend the names of the eligible he desires as city policemen.

Highway Patrol Have Long Vigil

State Highway patrolmen here in charge of Corporal Lawton have maintained an almost ceaseless vigilance since Saturday midnight. None of them obtained sleep last night.

They were on the various highways and their presence and warnings went far to minimize accidents.

One patrolman was stationed at the Ferry and Slippery Rock highways at Harlansburg last night to see that the stop signs was obeyed.

CAPTURE PAIR FLEEING FROM HANEY'S STORE

Hears Noise in Store.
Officer Willis McMullen was patrolling his beat on Sycamore way in the rear of the Haney store about 2 o'clock this morning, when he heard noises inside the building, which he interpreted as being someone working on the safe of the store on the first floor and adjoining the alley.

He slipped away quietly and called the police headquarters for help. In a few minutes Officers M. J. Young, D. J. Thomas, George Kennedy and Harry Filmer arrived. Private citizens Messrs. James Fowler, Nick Carter, Heasley and Tucker, the latter a P. & L. E. trainman, also joined with the officers.

The building was surrounded in such a manner that all exits were covered, while efforts were made to get people connected with the store and finally William Tricks was secured.

Officer D. J. Thomas and Nick Carter went up on the low roof of the building to the rear of the Hoyt building adjoining the Haney building and entered through the window the robbers had entered previously and left open.

The robbers evidently heard them enter, and made a hurried exit through the window by which they entered. From the low roof they gained entrance to the Hoyt building and came running down the stairway there and onto the street.

Officer George Kennedy was stationed in front of the Haney building and ordered them to stop. They kept running and Officer Kennedy started after them, firing a shot in an effort to stop them.

Pursuit Starts.
Wells and Thompson kept zig-zagging across the public square toward the Fountain Inn, running down Cochran way along side the hotel with Kennedy right behind them.

They turned east on Market way and into the parking space to the rear of the Leslie hotel. Tucker, P. & L. E. trainman, had arrived about the same time as Officer Kennedy and turned the lights of his car on lighting up the parking ground. Officer Kennedy entered the place and found Wells hiding behind a box and placed the handcuffs on him. Officer McMullen and the others arrived by that time and on searching found Thompson behind the garage can at the kitchen door of the Leslie hotel and placed him under arrest. This was about 2:30 a. m.

The captured men were taken to the Haney store, where a search was instituted. It was found that entrance had been effected by jimmying a window of a second floor toilet, which they were able to reach from the low roof of the building in the rear of the Hoyt block.

They had broken off the combination of the safe in the office but had not gained entrance to the safe. Tools used on the job were found wrapped in a towel in the toilet. These included a hammer, two drift pins and eight rubber crutch tips, seven of which had not been used and the other one of which was over a drift pin, being used to deaden the sound.

Find Guns.
On the second floor were found two guns, fully loaded, two flashlights and a pair of gloves, which had been ditched before the break for liberty.

One of the guns was a 25 calibre automatic, the other a 38 calibre "Police Positive" with the number filed off.

Car of the robbers, which Wells admits owning, was found parked in Sycamore way. It is a Dodge coupe, bearing Ohio license 775-886, which the police found was issued in Canton, O. The serial and engine numbers of the car had been changed.

In the car was found among other things a bill for repairs from a Pittsburgh garage made out to Donald T. Wells, 315 Biddle avenue, Pittsburgh. The license number on the bill was 1B919, which the state automobile records show was issued to Donald T. Wells, 336 Amber street, Pittsburgh. Two Pittsburgh tokens, a knife and a pair of tweezers were also found in the car.

After the men were ordered before Alderman Marshall, they were photographed and finger printed and then taken before Marshall.

Dysart's Car Is Stolen On Sunday

Car Stolen From Pittsburgh
And Found In Vicinity Probably Left By Thief

Willis-Knight Sedan, Pennsylvania license 52723 belonging to Henry Dysart, member of the city police force, was stolen Sunday morning between 11 and 12 o'clock from East Falls street where it was parked by the owner. No trace of it has yet been found.

Monday Officer Thomas Lynch on investigating found that a car, a Buick sedan, bearing Pennsylvania license 52303 which had been at North and Mill streets since Sunday, had been stolen from Lee Randall of 837 Doughton Avenue, Pittsburgh. The owner was notified and came for his car.

It is the opinion of the police authorities that this car found was abandoned by the thief who took the Dysart machine.

STATE AIDED INSTITUTIONS FEEL FUND SHORTAGE

Special Session Alone Can Stave Off Money Crisis

State Aided Schools And Hospitals Stand On Brink Of Serious Financial Crisis

TEN MILLION SHY ON APPROPRIATIONS

Attorney-General Schnader Sounds Warning, Will Urge Special Session

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, May 31.—Pennsylvania's state-wide educational institutions, hospitals and charitable organizations stand today on the brink of the most serious financial crisis in their histories.

Only another special session of the legislature can avert threatened hardship and suffering and rapid depreciation of educational assets necessarily intensified by the 24.16 per cent vertical slash in non-preferred state appropriations ordered by Attorney General William A. Schnader.

Will Urge Session.
Convocation of another extraordinary session of the general assembly to pass a "deficiency" appropriation bill and erase the spectre of the threatened slash undoubtedly will be urged upon Gov. Gifford Pinchot when he meets in a coalition conference tomorrow with legislative and political leaders.

The Schnader opinion was devised to sidestep threatened demoralization of the state's finances because only $30,517,608.81 in cash is available to pay appropriations aggregating $40,237,973.08. The opinion was predicated on the decision of the state supreme court designating the $10,000,000 in direct relief distributed under the Talbot act as an obligation preferred above all others.

Although other sections of the proposed special legislative program are uncertain, welfare and educational leaders have joined in a bold demand that emergency appropriations to nullify the effect of the Schnader opinion be made the key-stone of the assembly's work.

Should the attorney general's pronouncement be allowed eventually to become effective, leaders of state-aided institutions contend the net result of the last special session will be little more than the "robbing of Peter to pay Paul." In effect, they argue, state-benefited institutions are being taxed unduly and severely to amortize a deficit resulting from expenditure of the $10,000,000 in Talbot act funds.

Not Rejoicing Now.
The issue was succinctly stated by Mrs. Thomas J. Dolan of Philadelphia, chairman of the budget committee of the welfare federation. She said:

"Philadelphia rejoiced when the Talbot act made approximately $2,500,000 available for unemployment relief. Now, according to the attorney general, this money must come from appropriations to hospitals and homes and the mothers assistance funds throughout the state, every dollar of which is being spent through approved and well-managed organizations.

"These organizations are making valiant efforts to avoid turning away the sick and injured; they are healing and nursing the sick back to health which means food and shelter in the process. This would seem as vital a service as can be rendered human beings."

Situation Summed Up.
Welfare leaders in other cities have summed up their local situations in similar terms.

The slash, if it is allowed to become effective, will reduce appropriations to 162 state-aided medical and surgical hospitals in almost as many communities and the benefits of 78 homes for the indigent and diseased as well as the state's major educational institutions. A host of small, ex-beneficiaries also will be affected. They include such widely diversified organizations as insane asylums, reformatories, museums and mothers assistance funds.

At the last session of the legislature, a lump sum bill appropriated $7,151,500 to be 162 hospitals for the 1931-1933 biennium. Schnader's ruling slashes this amount to $5,423,697.70. Thus each hospital will receive only 75.84 per cent of the total two-year appropriation, if the opinion is not stripped of its force by subsequent appropriations.

Biennium Ends.
The first half of the fiscal biennium ends tomorrow. Virtually all hospitals already have received 50 per cent of their biennium appropriations. Hence the 24.16 per cent reduction must be paid from the remaining one-year appropriation. Hospitals and other state-aided institutions may expect for 1932 and 1933 only 25.84 per cent of their total appropriations, instead of the usual 50 per cent.

"The situation is the most serious the 162 state-aided hospitals have faced for years," asserted John M. Smith, Philadelphia, president of the State Hospital association. He warned:

"It may mean the closing of some smaller institutions."

Only Course Possible.
Smith emphasized his organization did not take issue with Schnader over the ruling because, constitutionally, the attorney general pursued the only course possible under the supreme court's opinion.

The decision now rests with the governor and political leaders. They can solve the dilemma, perhaps, by a special session of the legislature or by discovery of some overlooked income that may be expended to balance the state-aid budget.

The latter seems most unlikely at the present time.

Guard Discovers Prisoner Trying To Gain Freedom And Fires With Machine Gun

(International News Service)
OSSINING, N. Y., May 31.—A bullet wound in the arm and solitary confinement were the price which John Finnigan paid today for his desperate attempt to stage a daring one-man prison break from Sing Sing.

Finnigan, sentenced last December to a five year term for attempted assault in New York, tried to flee while prison officials and other inmates watched a Sunday baseball game.

A guard saw him, and loosed a machine gun fire at him. Finnigan dropped 18 feet to a railroad tunnel just outside the wall, where he was captured.

DOUBLE PARKING COMPLAINT CAUSE

Double parking and right to block traffic with a truck was the question under consideration before Mayor Charles B. Mayne this morning in a public hearing on the complaint of Fred L. Rentz against David Burry, ice dealer, and his driver, a man named Eagle.

Mr. Rentz stated that Burry's truck has him hemmed in on North Mill street at Allen's Market for 10 or 15 minutes by parking out in the street. Considerable argument followed when Mr. Rentz asked Burry to move the truck, it is said.

Burry claimed that he was delivering ice at the time. Mayor Mayne informed Burry and his driver as to their rights and the matter was dropped.

County's Pomona Grange Assembles On Thursday

Spokesmen for 1200 Lawrence county grangers, members of the 12 different subordinate grange units within the county's bounds, will convene at the Mahoning Valley grange hall on Thursday, June 2 for the annual conference of the Pomona grange.

Pomona's jurisdiction extends over every grange organization in Lawrence county.

Plan Three Sessions
Three separate sessions have been arranged for the meeting day, the first time for 10:30 a. m., when pressing business of the represented granges will be heard. At 1:30 p. m. a second session will open to bring the annual memorial service and other traditional customs of the conference.

The Rev. W. F. Byers, pastor of New Wilmington's Presbyterian church will preach the sermon honoring the members who have died since Pomona last met.

The presentation of the grange's traveling good will gavel will also consume a brief period, with a Mercer county grange representative making the presentation speech. A Lawrence county man will receive it for Pomona. Shortly, Lawrence will pass it on to the Beaver grangers.

Degrees At Night
An evening program, set for 8:30 o'clock will be devoted with degree work from beginning to end. The grangers will concentrate their attention to the fifth degree.

Mahoning Valley members, it is reported, were busy today shaping their reception plans for the visitors. In other years Pomona has met on Wednesdays but the Union township high school commencement on that night made it advisable to shift the date. All sessions of the grange convention will be operated on Eastern standard time.

Conclude School Term This Week

Little remains of the school year for the students and teachers of the New Castle system. Beginning Wednesday afternoon dismissal will be early, somewhere near 2:30, while on Friday the only school held will be the occupation of the morning for the presentation of promotion certificates.

Ten Thousand People At Park

Bi-Centennial Celebrated By Pretty Pyrotechnical Display

Ten thousand persons visited Cascade park during Memorial Day according to Carl Shaner, manager. All of the amusements operated from noon until midnight. The bi-centennial was celebrated by a pyrotechnical display, said to be one of the prettiest seen here for sometime. It was in charge of Paul Fazzone. One of the pieces was the likeness of George Washington in the center of two United States flags. There were no accidents.

Club Of Y. W. C. A. Camps On Week-End

Camp East Brook was used for the first time this year over the week-end and Memorial Day. Members of the Blue Triangle club, an organization of young business and professional women, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., went to the camp Saturday evening and enjoyed a stay there until Monday night.

Senior high school Girl Reserve cabinet members will go to the camp next week-end and spend a week there putting it in readiness for summer use. On the following week the camp will be officially open and girls from 8 to 13 years will be out there.

Camp registrations are beginning to come in from New Castle and nearby places. The camp is being cleaned, painting is being done and all will soon be in shape for the first group of campers.

POLICE DECORATE GRAVES OF DECEASED MEMBERS OF FORCE

City Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch as representatives of the Fraternal Order of Police, visited and decorated the graves of deceased members of the police force. They visited Greenwood, Oak Park, Graceland, St. Mary's and St. Joseph's cemeteries in this city and Fair Oaks cemetery at New Wilmington and every place where there is a former officer buried. The grave decorated at Fair Oaks cemetery was that of Mrs. Rae Muirhead, former police woman.

The most annoying thing about the war debt is the fact that part of it represents spurs and Sam Browne belts.

Y's "Learn To Swim" Drive Nears, Boys Signing Names

City youths who cannot swim were today placing their names on the dotted line as applicants for the Y. M. C. A.'s "Learn to Swim" campaign which gets underway next Monday. The drive will last two weeks, from June 6 to the 20th.

Hardly another thing could be done today to bring the campaign plans nearer completion. Physical Director Henry T. MacNichols said. He indicated that this year's free campaign would be larger than previous undertakings.

Competent swimming instructors, the best the 'Y' could secure, will direct the activities of the non-swimmers.

"There is no charge whatever and a boy does not have to hold a 'Y' membership," Mr. MacNichols explained. Incorrect reports have it that a participant must meet with such requirements.

Today's coupon, printed herewith must be signed by parents of the boys before the enrollment will be certified.

Boys who already can swim need not be interested, for the "Learn to Swim" events are only for those who cannot swim now.

Strouse Takes Second Place At State Meet

Local Hurdling Ace Gives Notable Accounting Of Self At Altoona Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Ralph Strouse, Coach Todd Lloyd's finding for the hurdles, aided District 7 of the W. P. I. A. L. section with four points at the P. I. A. A. meet at Altoona, Saturday, when he topped second place in the 220 yard low hurdles in one of the most thrilling races of the day.

Strouse was competing against the best hurdlers of the state and gave a notable accounting of himself. The race was really an affair between Rupert of Altoona and Strouse. The former won by a half a yard. Both men broke 26 seconds in the race. The winning time was 25.7 seconds. Strouse was clocked at 25.9. Incidentally the local hurdler was racing against the man who is coached by his own former coach, Dick Barthelme, whose team topped the team championship for two successive years. Barthelme won the state crown for Ellwood City in 1930 and also the W. P. I. A. L. and Geneva Interscholastic. He developed Mike Dixon who won the state title in the 220 yard low hurdles, the year Ellwood won the state meet.

Chest Drive Is Reaching Goal

Drive Is Extended For One More Week; $18,000 Raised Up To Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—The community chest drive in Ellwood City is slowly but surely reaching its goal, according to reports turned in to chest officials Saturday evening when a sum of $2000 was raised bringing the grand total to $18,000, just $5,930 short of the goal.

It is for too lack of cooperation from the people of the community that the drive has not gone over the top in the specified time of one week, but it is due instead to the failure of committees to turn in reports promptly. The drive has been extended one more week so everything can be done properly.

SERVICES FOR JOHN E. REINER
ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Funeral services for John E. Celebrate Several Events With Picnic Dinner Yesterday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gilbert of near Van Gorder Mills opened their home with charming hospitality Memorial Day, when a group of relatives and friends gathered there to celebrate a number of interesting events, including the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Saide Sarver, the fourth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sarver and the sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kidd.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon at one large table adorned with a birthday cake and bouquets of spring flowers. Following the dinner Mrs. Sarver was tendered a handkerchief shower, which was a complete surprise to her, but she responded in a charming manner. The remaining hours were enjoyed with ball games and reminiscing as Ervin McQuiston of Salt Lake City, Utah, who is a member of the family and a former resident of this vicinity, is spending several days here.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. William Carlin and son Gilbert. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sarver and daughter Esther, Mrs. Amelia Newton and children, Goldie, Betty, Emilong, Lawrence, Raymond; Mrs. R. J. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kidd, Mrs. Frank Duncan, son Frank, Mrs. Alice McQuiston, daughter Cora, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and children, Blanche, Florence, Walter, Elbert, Clinton and Gerald; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams and children, Betty and Bobbie; Mrs. Elmer Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George Stiefel and son Earl; Mr. Christie, Mrs. Lloyd Main and children, Doris, Marian and Jean, Myrtle, Vera, Esther and Earl Gilbert and Roy Sarver.

Police Able To Enjoy Holiday

No Arrests Made In Three Day Period; No Serious Hospital Cases

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Police of Ellwood City were able to enjoy a fine holiday period. Outside of their daily routine and taking care of traffic on Memorial Day, they had things easy. There were no arrests made for the holiday period of Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The local hospital also had a pleasing report to make, stating that no one was admitted for care during the three days.

Braham Speaks On Memorial Day

Stirring Address Is Made As Part Of Ellwood City's Observance

PARADE PRECEDES MEMORIAL MEETING

WALTER W. BRAHAM

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Ellwood City paid tribute to its honored dead in a fitting way Monday morning when practically the whole city participated in the annual Memorial Day program here. The city was bedecked in flags and national colors which accentuated the occasion.

The parade itself was one of the largest held here. Every patriotic organization, the boy and girl scouts, the borough council, the board of education, and the citizenry were well represented. It was given an air of a well-trained army by the presence of the American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps and the 107th Field Artillery of this city. The latter was on full dress parade on this occasion.

Those participating in the parade gathered on the corner of Sixth street and Crescent avenue from where it moved to the western part of the town. It then proceeded down Lawrence avenue and Fifth street to the bridge, where a counter march was held to the center of the bridge. A halt was called here and the Ladies of the G. A. R. held a special service for the sailors. This was followed with three volleys by the Legion firing squad and taps by the Bugle and Drum Corps.

Two War Veterans
The parade then proceeded to Legion Park via Glen avenue and Fourth street where a fitting program was given in honor of the city's soldier and sailor dead. Burgess J. C. Turner presided. After the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the High School Band, a prayer was offered by the Rev. A. M. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city. Then Burgess Turner introduced the distinguished guests of the day, the Civil War Veterans, J. Nester Kirkner and Thomas Wilson of Zellenople who have been honored guests on this occasion for several years. Burgess Turner stated that he always looks forward to this event when he may once more present them in our midst.

The feature of the program was the address by Attorney Walter W. Braham of New Castle who is recognized as one of the most capable orators in this section. The speaker was introduced to the large gathering by the chairman, Burgess Turner. Attorney Braham stated that this is one day which is set aside annually for the country to honor and revere the memory of its soldier and sailor dead wherever they may be. The day set is the time of year most pleasing to man's valor. He pointed out that no country can keep to itself or keep out of European affairs altogether and there was no way for America to keep out of the war. There is no reason to be ashamed for entering it. It was a worthy cause and the Americans vindicated themselves. He compared the veterans of the wars as Napoleon's Old Guard who died but never surrendered. The veterans have not surrendered. They have carried on through the years after the war reconstructing the resources of the country and now are battling the present economic catastrophe with the same spirit and determination as in 1917. The United States entered the war to vindicate its integrity and make America feared and respected throughout the world. But now America must vindicate itself. It has showed the apex of villainy when Baby Charles Lindbergh was foully murdered. It is the traitor in our midst that we must cope with. The shame must be wiped out by bringing him to justice. Our government is capable of protecting our children and will.

The result of the war has made the world more secure. The speaker was confident that there will be no other universal conflict despite the present unrest in Europe today. The world has been made more safe for democracy. The challenge now is to win our present conflict, the war over depression. The rich and poor must unite as in Great Britain and sanction a levy of taxes so that the budget may be balanced as soon as possible. The people must prompt immediate action from congress.

Attorney Braham has high in praise of the spirit, courage, and determination shown by the American soldiers in France. He also praised the people who stood at home at the time and rendered every possible assistance to the boys over there. He asserted that the spirit which won the war will win peace. We must exemplify the spirit of George Washington, Robert Morris, and Nathan Hale, who gave all they had for their country. There must be patience and confidence in the justice of the people.

Immediately following the address the Bugle and Drum Corps rendered a selection. A ritual was then given by the Sons of Veterans which came to a conclusion by the firing of volleys and taps.

The Memorial Day program yesterday was one of the most notable and impressive held here, in the opinion of many people.

Two Cars In Serious Collision On Monday

Six Persons Escape Dangerous Injuries Near Baldwin Inn Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Six persons escaped serious injury and possible death when two cars collided on the hill near Baldwin Inn about 12:40 last night.

According to reports given the highway patrol at New Castle, the machine driven by Robert Aiken of Fourth street, Ellwood City, was going down hill and endeavored to pass the coupe driven by George McCormack of Beaver Falls. The hubs of the front wheels of both cars got entangled when they were abreast. In an effort to get out, the Aiken car swerved several times and then completely overturned with wheels up. The McCormack car went to the right and through the cable fence along the highway where it stopped at the bottom of a little hill.

Outside of receiving a bad fright no one in the latter car received any injuries the most serious was the laceration of a physician. A party in the machine driven by Fred Robuck arrived at the scene immediately following the accident and helped to extricate some of the members from the cars. The Aiken car was upturned in the center of the road and tied up traffic both ways. Aiken cut about the face, head, hands and legs. His companion, Miss Claire Marcella, was suffering from shock, a lacerated finger and an injured side. Both were immediately rushed to the Ellwood City hospital by Robuck and John Christy, where their injuries were taken care of. At the hospital it was revealed that Miss Marcella's pain in the side was caused by a cracked rib.

The McCormack car, in which there were four persons, was able to go of its own power. The other machine was completely wrecked. The highway was made passable after the arrival of Highway Patrolman Cunningham, who saw to the removal of the wreckage and began an investigation into the affair.

Ukraine Agricultural Fields Going To Bad

Ukraine Peasants Not As Thrifty And Hard Working As In Former Years

Heavy State Collections And Agencies Have Discouraged Tillers Of Soil

(Following is the third of a series of articles by the Moscow Bureau Manager of International News Service, who has gone to the Ukraine, the Soviet Union's greatest grain producing republic to investigate actual conditions among the peasants.)

KHARKOV, Ukraine, May 31.—Agriculture in the Ukraine is going from bad to worse.

Time was when this district rated as one of the richest grainaries in the world, supplying many European countries. Today there is not enough bread here to support the peasant population.

Poor management of the Colchozes (collective farms) is one fundamental reason. Terrific heavy state collections of grain for city use is the other.

Stiff Collections
So stiff were the collections last fall and winter that the peasant could not keep enough grain for seedling purposes, let alone enough to feed himself.

About two-thirds of Russia's people are in collectives of one sort or another. They are, however, dropping out rapidly because they are

Bunnies Living At State Farm

Experiment Being Tried This Summer At Jordan Propagation Farm

If the experiment of propagating rabbits at the Jordan State Game Farm works out with some success this summer, it will probably be given more serious attention next year. If rabbits could be raised without much trouble to the state, and in large enough numbers, there would be no need for importing the animals from western states in order that the woods of Pennsylvania may be well stocked with game.

Early this spring quite a number of rabbits were trapped on the game farm and segregated in one fenced corner field. They have multiplied and will be released in several months. Not much attention has been given the rabbits as the main function of the farm is the propagation of ringneck pheasants. But if the raising of rabbits can be successfully carried on as a side work, it would mean a great deal to Pennsylvania sportsmen.

Not only is it an expense to ship rabbits from other states, but because of the quick change of climate many of the imported rabbits are unable to survive.

City Pastor Speaks At Shenango School

The Rev. Johnstone Delivers Senior Baccalaureate At East New Castle

The Rev. C. W. Johnston, pastor of the city's Central Christian church, preached an appropriate sermon to the Shenango Township high school's class of June graduates at a baccalaureate service in the school auditorium on Sunday night. Shenango township was well represented as were other portions of the city.

The Shenango orchestra, led by Professor John Lindner, played while the seniors entered and left the auditorium and contributed a special number. The senior class, formed as a chorus also sang "The Good Shepherd." The solo part was sung by Marion Booher. The class also sang "Deep River."

Shenango's commencement occurs on Thursday, June 2.

JEFFERSON STREET DUMP AGAIN AFIRE

Firemen were called out shortly after midnight Saturday night to extinguish a fire which had broken out in the dump between North Mercer and North Jefferson streets. Firemen spent several hours early Sunday morning pouring water onto the burning rubbish and returned later to extinguish the flame. It will be remembered that the dump caught fire several years ago and burned for almost two weeks, with firemen pouring water onto the smoldering ruins each day.

ANENT RABBITS

Editor News,
Dear Sir:

I saw by a recent issue of The News that some of the New Castle citizens had sent out an S. O. S. call to get relief from the rabbits which were destroying their garden crops. The game warden responded by suggesting that they catch them in traps and he would take them out into the country and release them.

He must have a grudge against the farmers or he would not think of releasing those city rabbits where they can destroy the farmers' gardens and field crops, also to propagate and rear large families to destroy young apple trees next winter.

Why not release them on Edison avenue. Fred Rentz always has a good garden and as Fred is one of the most generous men in New Castle he would be willing to board some of those city rabbits rather than have them turned loose on the farmers. He knows how hard the farmers have to work in order to get what little they do.

The farmers have a hard enough time getting money to pay their county taxes so that county officials can have large salaries and unnecessary clerks to sit around in the offices; also to support the game warden without being pestered by the destructive rabbit so that the city sportsmen can get recreation and pleasure trespassing over the farmers' property to satisfy their sporting propensities.

Many people do not know how destructive the rabbits are. They are responsible for the destruction of hundreds of thousands of young apple trees in the state of Pennsylvania and unless the orchardist takes considerable time to protect his young apple trees he is almost sure to suffer heavy losses from the rabbits.

As long as the farmers are represented in the senate and the general assembly by city men they cannot expect much legislation that will give relief.

At a meeting of a local grange the proposition of having the city rabbits sent to the country for the summer was discussed and it was decided that it would be a good plan for the farmers to catch some rabbits and release them in the city. It was thought that a truck load could be secured.

Some thought they should be released at the home of the game warden but a fairer way would be to give an equal distribution over the entire city.

Definite plans will not be made until the meeting of the County Pomona grange next Thursday and in order to put it across in a big way it should be a county wide movement.

Davis And Reed Split On Question

Vote On Opposite Sides On Tax On Furs And Bank Checks

By ARTHUR C. WIMMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—Senators David Reed and James J. Davis, who have been frequently voting on opposite sides of the question of taxing checks and furs last week.

The senate approved a tax of ten per cent on all furs. A coalition sought to amend this provision so as to exempt coats and jackets where the price for which sold is under $40, and caps, gloves, mittens where the price for which sold is under $10. Senator Davis voted to make the exemption and Senator Reed voted against such amendment.

The senate finance committee recommended a tax of two cents on all bank checks, and Davis and Reed split on the question of exempting checks of five dollars and under from this levy. Davis voted not to tax checks of five dollars and less whereas Reed supported the finance committee recommendation that all checks be taxed. The senate approved the finance committee proposal.

Senator Reed was unsuccessful in having this tax made a stamp tax to be paid by a stamp affixed directly to the check. As approved by the senate, the tax must be deducted by the various banks from the accounts of those writing the checks.

Reed voted with the group successfully amending the revenue bill so as to increase the postage on newspapers and other publications entered as second class matter. Davis was absent on this vote.

McBride Post Holds Service

Annual Memorial Service For Departed Comrades Held Sunday Morning

With a large number of post members and auxiliary members present, Harry L. McBride post No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held its annual memorial service in the Central Christian church on Long avenue Sunday morning.

The altar had been decorated by the post with a raised mound, backed by a small white cross, symbolizing the dead of the late war.

The ritualistic service was held about this grave, with the following taking part: Commander J. P. LaRue, Auxiliary President Mrs. Evelyn Woods and Comrades Williams, Marshall, Stoner, Waski, Coulter, Fishburn, Christoph and Conclia. Miss Rose Balogh accompanied Frank Conclia, who sang "Sleep Soldier Boy."

New Wilmington Pool Thrown Open

Outside Residents May Use Pool If Recommended By Townspeople

NEW WILMINGTON, May 31.—Formal opening of the beautiful new community swimming pool here was observed Friday afternoon, when the pool was thrown open to the public.

It has been newly painted from top to bottom and clean fresh water has been forced in. The pool, donated by the townspeople can be used by them at no cost. A slight charge will be made to those from out of town who have been recommended by some citizen.

Many children were present Friday afternoon while the various class picnics of the school were in progress.

In town the filling station boys polish everything. In the country they merely provide a little shine.

Yanks And Cubs League Leaders

Cubs Hold To Lead League
By Dividing With Cardinals In Twin Bill

DETROIT TEAM STEPS FORWARD

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 31.—With Memorial Day and a traditional milestone in the Major League races past, a sizzling scramble had developed between five pennant contenders in the American League today.

Although the Yankees hold a lead of 4½ games over their closest pursuers, the Detroit Tigers, the pack is closely bunched. A margin of only a game and a half separates Detroit, in second place, from Cleveland, at the head of the second division.

The old axiom that double bills usually result in an even break, which was borne out in Sunday's contests 100 per cent, was shattered yesterday as six of the eight double-headers resulted in clean sweeps. The Yankees, Tigers, Athletics, Indians, Giants and Dodgers won both of their contests.

Tigers Advance
Detroit passed Washington and went into second place as the Senators were licked by the A's twice. In the National League, Brooklyn passed Pittsburgh and went into first division. The Phillies flopped all the way from sixth place to the cellar, being passed by the Cardinals and Giants.

The Chicago White Sox, however, were the prize flop of the day. They lost two games to Cleveland 12 to 6 and 12 to 11. Then a gang of Sox coreheads pitched into Umpire George Moriarty and it took five of them to lick him.

Senators Lose Two
Washington suffered two crushing setbacks from the Athletics, 13 to 2 and 8 to 6, with Mack's two aces, Grove and Earnshaw, doing the throwing. Simmons and Dykes hit two home runs in the opener, while Jimmy Fox's 17th of the year, coming with two on base, won the nightcap.

Pincock and Johnson hurled the Yankees to a double triumph over the Red Sox, 7 to 5 and 13 to 3. Detroit two-timed the Browns 17 to 9 and 4 to 0. Tom Bridges pitched fine ball in the second contest, but Out's homer with two on gave the Giants a 6 to 2 decision over the Braves in nine innings, but it took the McGrawmen ten innings to capture the second game 4 to 2.

The Cubs increased their lead over the Braves to 2½ games by beating the Cardinals 6 to 2, after the champions had routed Burleigh Grimes, their former playmate, in the opener to win by a 6 to 4 count. Rogers Hornsby, the budding right-fielder, got a homer in the nightcap.

Dodgers Win Two
Brooklyn plastered the Phillies twice, 13 to 4 and 5 to 3. Although the Dodgers made no less than seven errors in the opener, Lefty Clark held the quakers to four hits and was aided by Hack Wilson's homer. A four-run rally in the eighth inning of the second game enabled the Dodgers to win it.

Bill Swift got the Pirates an even break by holding the Reds to five hits, winning 5 to 2, after old Eppa Jephia Alpha Omega Rixey had subdued the Bucs in the opener, 4 to 2.

Plevnik Pitches No-Hit Contest

Plevnik, Bessemer high's ace hurler, entered the schoolboy hall of fame by holding East Brook without a run or hit in five innings of a Lawrence county high school game at the Bessemer field, which went to the Bessemer team 15 to 0. Only two of the East Brook men reached first base and both of these on walks.

The last man up for East Brook had a hit, but it was discovered that he had batted out of turn and was therefore declared out and the side retired and the hit did not count. Betka, Schuler and Criswell formed the battery for the East Brook team, with Plevnik and Slavish the battery for Bessemer. East Brook had six errors.

Baer is the name given to the Dutch inhabitants of South Africa who are descended from the original settlers.

Bessemer Takes 10 Inning Game

W. Puromaki, W. Stanley And G. Stanley Hit Home Runs

Bessemer won a 10 inning, Lawrence county league game from Universal Sanitary, Memorial afternoon at Bessemer, seven to six. Bessemer scored their winning run in the tenth inning.

W. Puromaki, W. Stanley and G. Stanley each got a home run for Bessemer. W. Puromaki fanned his hitting average by also turning in a triple.

Valley was hit 12 times while Ray-buck and Nord who pitched for Bessemer were found for a total of 10 hits.

British Olympian

A fine action photo of Miss R. Christmas, who has won the right to be England's representative in the women's shot-putting event of the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles, beginning in June. She is shown at a recent meet at the Battersea Park track in London, where she led the field.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Fred Frame of Los Angeles won the 500-mile automobile race over the Indianapolis speedway Memorial Day in 4:48.03.79, to average 104.144 miles an hour, breaking the former record of 101.13, established by Peter DePaolo, made in 1925. Less than 44 seconds back of Frame came Howdy Wilcox of Indianapolis.

Helen Wills Moody qualified with Sidney Wood for her second final in the French tennis championships yesterday at Auteuil, France, when they beat Jean Borotra and Josane Sigart, 7-5, 6-2, in a semi-final match.

George Moriarty, American League umpire, broke his hand when he knocked down Milt Gaston, pitcher, yesterday after the White Sox-Indians game at Cleveland. Charles Berry of the White Sox, it is reported, challenged Moriarty to fight.

Moriarty agreed to fight four White Sox, one after another. They were Manager Fonseca, Berry, Grube and Gaston, it is said. Gaston is said to have stepped up and said: "You might as well start with me."

The umpire did, and set Gaston down, and the melee broke out. Cleveland players are said to have rescued Moriarty. Manager Fonseca charges the trouble was brought on by the umpire sneering at the Chicago players all day. Moriarty has not presented his side yet.

RECORDED TODAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 31.—A combination of unfavorable domestic and foreign news touched off fresh liquidation today and stocks went to new lows for the bear market.

American Telephone and Consolidated Gas were weak. The former broke under 90 to the lowest level in 25 years while gas lost nearly 2 points to sell at the lowest price for the present shares.

U. S. Steel met support around its low but Bethlehem Steel broke to a new record bottom.

German Obligations were weak and combined with fresh forced selling in other issues brought a heavy tone to the bond market. Cotton and Wheat were down substantially.

would not be balanced by the bill and that gold was being carried out of America as fast as steamers could take it.

Reed was given a vicious hazing after his speech. Democratic and insurgent senators flayed him for keeping his knowledge of the treasury estimates secret until after the sales tax had been beaten. They also declared his talk was only "propaganda" to force adoption of the sales tax.

Put 1932 Rates In

Washington, May 31.—In a desperate effort to obtain money with which to balance the budget, the senate today wrote the 1932 income tax rates into the billion dollar revenue bill.

These rates, beginning at 4 per cent on the first $4,000, 8 per cent on the second $4,000 and raising to a maximum of 55 per cent on surtaxes, are expected to bring $225,000,000 in revenue.

Sponsored by Senator Connally (D) of Texas, the high income tax rates were adopted by a vote of 86 to 3.

Two Republicans and one Democrat voted against the increased rates. The Republicans were Hatfield of West Virginia and Howell of Nebraska. The Democrat was Bailey of North Carolina.

NATURE STINGY? MAKE OWN LASHES

Has nature been stingy to you in the matter of long, silky eyelashes and perfectly formed eyebrows? A new treatment by Paris beauticians transplants hair from the head to eyebrows and eyelashes to supplement the works of nature. Pictured left is a close-up of thin, scraggly eyelashes and thick, uneven brows. Right shows the same face after the beautician has plucked hairs from the patient's head and "planted" them, roots and all.

At Democratic Garden Party

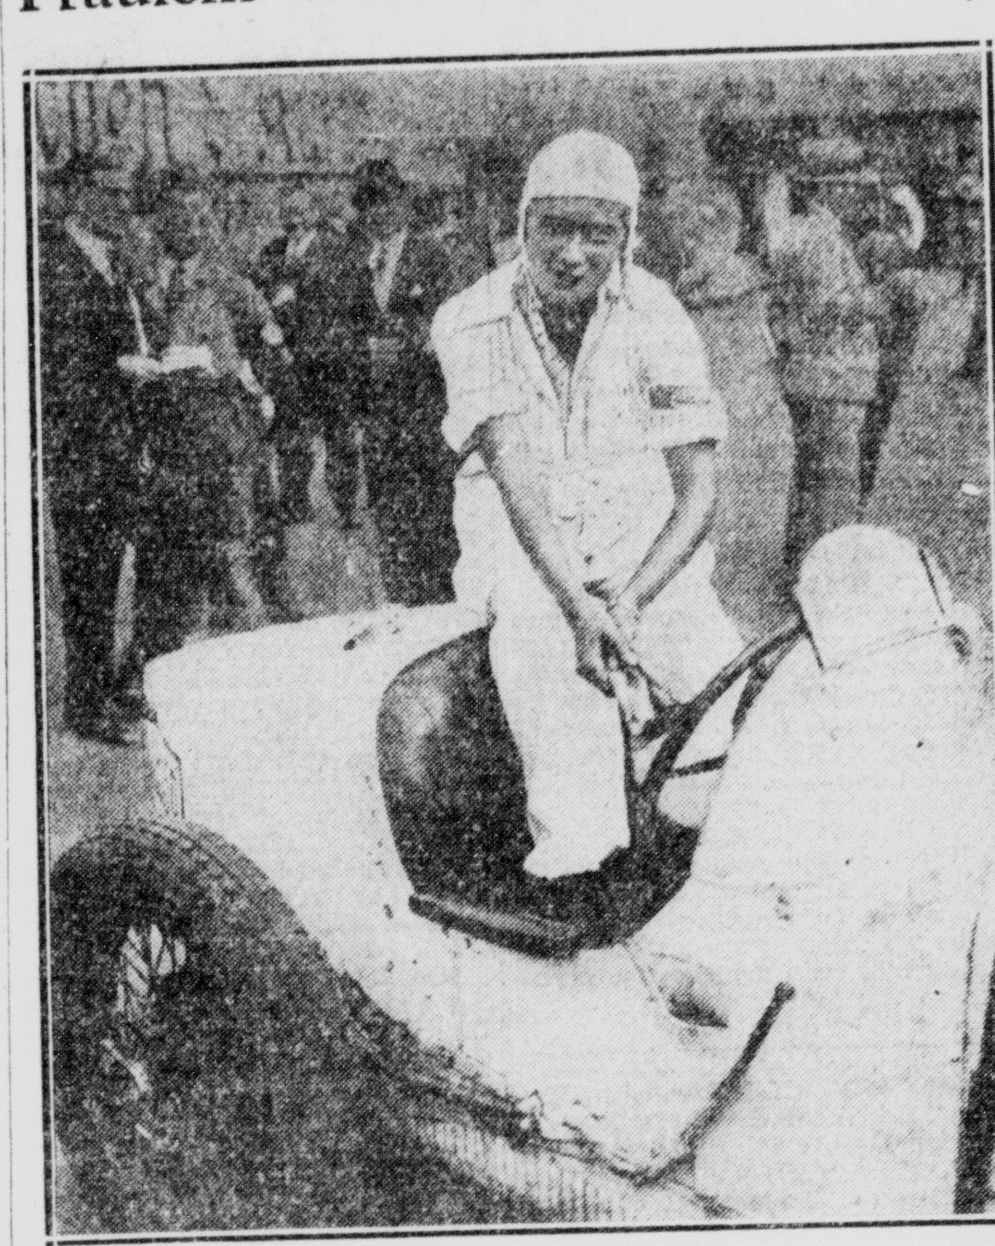

Three notable ladies of the Democratic Party are shown with a delectable-looking cake that they recently raffled at the garden party of the Women's National Democratic Society, held in the home of Admiral and Mrs. Cary T. Grayson at Washington, D. C. Left to right, are: Mrs. J. J. House, wife of the chairman of the National Democratic Committee; Laura Barkley, daughter of Senator Barkley of Kentucky, and Miss Kathleen Carmichael.

Where Lightning Played Fatal Havoc

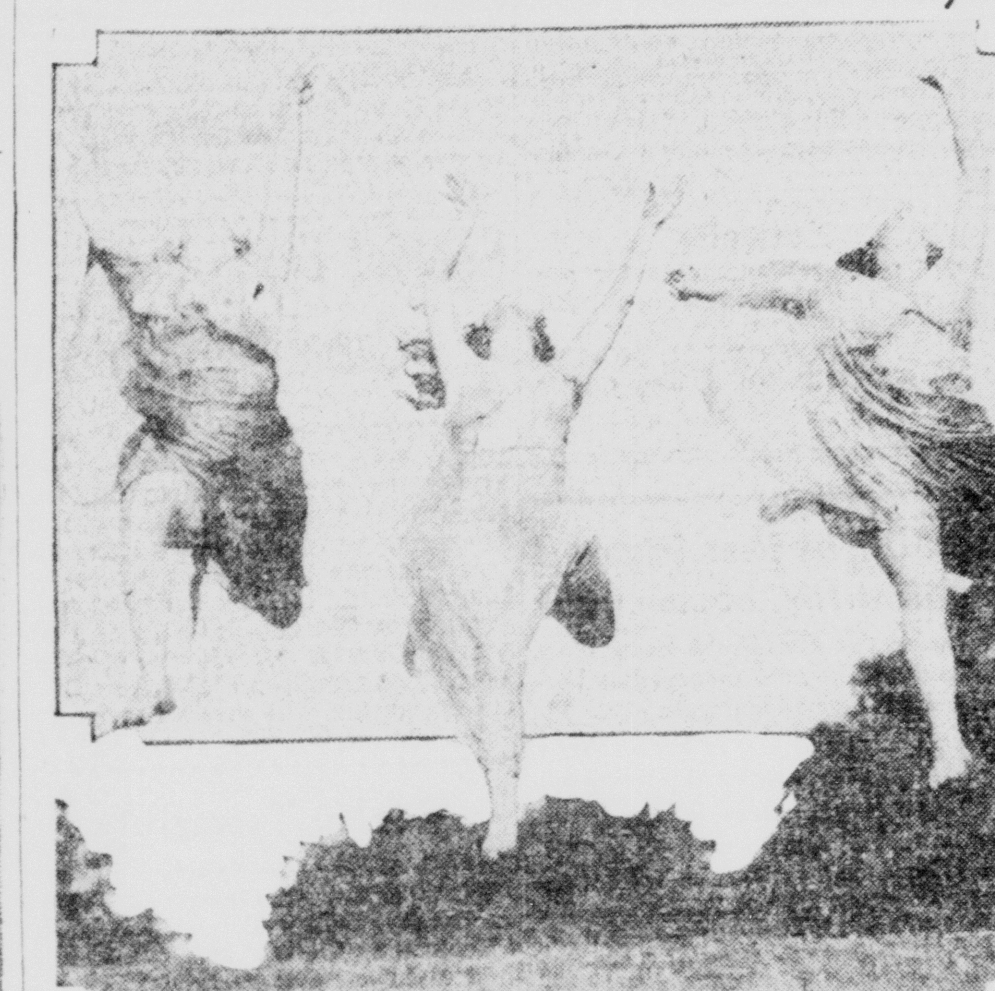

A lightning and thunder storm that paid a brief but destructive visit to Massachusetts recently left the above scene of desolation at Dorchester. Photo shows the wreckage of a boatyard after lightning had struck the building. The roof was ripped from the structure causing the rest of the building to collapse, trapping and killing two men. The electric storm was accompanied by torrential rains.

Fraulein Who Showed the Way

Here is pretty Fraulein Gilka, seated in her racing car on the Avus track in Berlin, after winning a heat in a recent race against the best of Europe's speed demons. It marked the first time a woman had ever won the event. The German girl thrilled thousands of spectators as she took the high banked curves at more than 100 miles an hour.

Grecian Gambols for Charity

If the Greeks had a word for the graceful capers which originated in their country, it might fittingly be applied to the maneuver shown here. The dancing damsels are pictured as they rehearsed one of their Grecian numbers for the fete to be held in the beautiful gardens of "Greystone," the estate of Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney. It is hoped to create a fund of $100,000 for the benefit of unemployed architects and draughtsmen with the proceeds.

She has requested that the usual elaborate welcoming ceremonies for returning heroes and heroines be eliminated in her case.

INDICATE SALES TAX PLAN IS DEFEATED

By GEORGE E. DUNNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—President Hoover today was in receipt of pledges of Democratic support in the battle to balance the budget after having been badly outmaneuvered in his efforts to have the sales tax written into the new revenue bill.

As a result of an eleventh-hour conference at the white house last night with Democratic leaders of the senate, he had their promise of aid in adjusting the $3,000,000,000 treasury deficit—but on their own terms.

Sales Tax Dead

The sales tax was dead without Mr. Hoover having committed himself to it publicly, and the Democratic-Progressive coalition apparently was ready to balance the budget by adopting a series of tax schedules, many of which are obnoxious to the administration.

Completing the Democratic victory, their leaders had exacted a promise from Secretary of the Treasury Mills to present the senate finance committee with still further revised budget estimates immediately, although up to yesterday he had refused.

Holds Conference

It was in a fairly desperate mood that the president summoned the minority strategists to the white house. In his pocket was a useless message to the senate urging enactment of the sales tax. He had acceded to the counsel of his Republican advisers, first last week and again Sunday night, to withhold it, only to see the coalition obtain 55 pledges to an opposition petition.

That he conceded defeat on the sales tax score was obvious when he did not even mention the measure to the Democrats.

student body, which listened to Mrs. W. C. Eckenrode, head of the city's Garden club, extol the first president. The exercises climaxed the planting of 22 memorial elm trees in Washington's honor.

The tree planting had been finished before but today's program formally dedicated them. With the dedication the school formally became a member of the American Tree association.

The Johnson Bronze company donated a bronze marker for the program and it was auspiciously unveiled. The New Castle Duntile company donated the marker's cement block.

Organizations which contributed elms included the school, the faculty, student council, Hi-Y, Girl Reserves, Keystone Girl Scouts, three Boy Scout troops and the city's Garden club.

Balloon Racers Seeking Honors

Five Giant Gas Bags Take Off From Omaha And Head Northward

(International News Service)

OMAHA, Neb., May 31.—Some-where to the northwest five giant gas bags were believed to be floating through the air toward the Canadian wilds today in the annual National Balloon Race.

The first mishap of the contest occurred last night shortly after the takeoff when the City of Detroit, piloted by Pete Larson of Detroit, was forced down at Port Calhoun, 15 miles north of Omaha. A leakage forced the landing and Larson today was trying to salvage his balloon.

Six bags waited off to the northwest at five-minute intervals in the beginning of the race at the local municipal airport last night. The Chevrolet Motor Company balloon, driven by Tracy Southworth of Monroe, Mich., was the first to take off.

The four other entries still believed to be in the air were two United States army balloons, the Goodyear Zeppelin bag and the City of Omaha.

Highway Route Numbers Changed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Highway maintenance forces between dawn and dusk today will make a speedy attempt to complete the task of moving and erecting approximately 2,600 new road markers in accordance with route number changes recently announced by the department highways.

Among the routes changes is the route from Butler to New Castle and thence to New Bedford, which will be designated as U. S. 222 in the future.

In Memoriam

McCormick—John F. McCormick. In fond and loving memory of our beloved husband and father, who passed away one year ago today, May 31, 1931.

When the evening shades are falling And I'm sitting all alone, To my heart there comes a longing, If he only could come home. Sad and silent was his call. So dear, loved by one and all. No one knows the silent heartache. Only those who shared can tell. But many a silent tear we shed, Dad, For the one we loved so well. Loving Wife and Children.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Early today the returns from all precincts were not in, but it seemed as though Old Man Accident had scored fairly heavily. With 36 hours of sunshine and plenty of concrete, it was inevitable, and from the manner they were driving on the highways in this county yesterday, the wonder is that there weren't a lot more.

For some reason there seems to be an affinity between holiday driving and accidents. It may be that the shock of having all day to go somewhere is too much, or it may be that the weird driver saves himself for such days.

One youngster living on a highway near the edge of town asked for permission to stay up late last night so he "could see the accidents."

Traffic from the park cut into the usual holiday snarl last night with street cars threading their way along at about 2 miles per hour. Everybody wanted to go at once and everybody was held up as the result.

Bill Perver of the Wilmington Road reports the ultimate in stupidity, or the same in effort which over way you care to express it. For the past month a yellow hammer has been busy on his place trying to drill a hole in the steel blade of the windmill.

You can't hate a fellow for trying, but that yellow hammer is going to be short a couple of inches of bill if he keeps it up.

Spent the week end roaming the Slippery Rock Valley and customers the "Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia" have nothing on the precipitous hills that hold the Slippery Rock in place.

Traffic out that way was sparse. Two cars an hour down the winding dirt road was heavy traffic and four made a jam. It was such a day that turns city folks into nature lovers and at the same time it is out there where the air is pure and noises are nil, the city loses some of its attraction.

The season was formally inaugurated with a hike through Hell's Hollow, and if you go through it a dozen times there is always something new, either under your feet or over your head.

That name is a misnomer. There are few spots like it in this part of our country. Great sprawling bowlders have been tossed down into the creek bed with careless abandon, moss and lichens and small plants have covered them, while on the nearly perpendicular sides hang hemlocks and maples that seem to be in constant danger of slipping into the water.

In places the valley widens out and here you'll find leaf mold a hundred years old carpeting the ground, wild columbine and wild Sweet William form the color scheme just now, with the Jack-in-the-pulpit and trilliums just fading out of the picture.

Wild sedum and ferns are there in profusion, and a thousand other plants that are related to some of the expensive plants in the florists, but out there Nature seems to have been extraordinarily lavish.

Here and there the erosion of the years has cut the earth and shale away from under the limestone ledge and have formed overhanging effects that seem to be a gargoyle for a natural building.

From Lawrence Furnace to the mouth of the Slippery Rock there are a half a dozen pools that seem to invite trout. The water is cold and clean and rapid enough for any trout. Might be a good idea to stock them.

You bass hunters will be glad to know that the Slippery Rock seems to have more than a few this year. Nice big fellows swimming around and daring some fisherman to land them.

Move Body Of War Veteran

Remains Are Taken From Unknown Grave To One Of Honor

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., May 31.—The body of Isaac Dean, forgotten Civil War veteran, has been moved from a pauper's grave to a place of honor in Vandergrift Cemetery.

The aged man died a recluse in an abandoned mine along Beaver Run at Mamont in the spring of 1921. Only a G. A. R. button gave a clue to his past life.

For 11 years the American Legion Fathers' Council of Vandergrift sought his identity. Recently it was found he was a member of Company K, One Hundred Pennsylvania Volunteers. The cemetery association donated the plot and a memorial is to be erected.

Larry Gains Beats Carnera

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 31.—Larry Gains, Toronto negro who holds the British Empire heavyweight title and who last night overpowered Primo Carnera, Italian giant, declared today he hoped to get about soon with either Jack Sharkey or Max Schmeling.

Jeff Dickson, promoter of last night's ten-round affair at the White City here, stood beside Gains and declared this was not unlikely.

Pacific Flier Is Injured As Plane Crashes

Nat C. Browne, And Aid Take Plunge In Sound And Are Slightly Injured

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., May 31.—Man's ambition to conquer the wide expanse of the Pacific Ocean in a plane, alone, had been thwarted again today by disaster.

While attempting to refuel over Puget Sound, a few miles north of the Seattle Harbor, Nat. C. Browne, daring Texas aviator, plunged with Frank Brooks, parachute jumper, 1,000 feet into the water when his monoplane cracked up and shattered into thousands of pieces yesterday afternoon.

Browne's left shoulder, dislocated when he was thrown from the cockpit as the plane crumbled, was in a plaster cast today. Brooks, who was aiding him in a refueling attempt, escaped with a few minor gasoline burns.

Mahoning Valley Grange Notes

The Mahoning Valley Grange held its regular meeting Tuesday evening with the Master, Fred Knoll, in the chair. The lecturer's hour was in charge of Mrs. Jennie McClenahan. At this time an address was given by C. W. Herman Hess entitled "Memorial and Its Significance."

Mrs. Goldie McClenahan is confined to the Youngstown City Hospital.

Charlotte Reynolds, of Catherine street, visited her aunt, Mrs. Matilda Carson of the New Castle-Edinburg road.

Grange members graduating at Union High are Vera Cover and Howard Kelso.

New York's clamor for beer may be a protest against Prohibition or a nasty dig at her speakies.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

HEARS L. T. SAUL

The People's Forum held an interesting meeting Sunday afternoon in their rooms on Neshannock avenue. "Public Ownership of Public Utilities" was ably discussed by Louis T. Saul of Geneva College.

Next Sunday, Dr. Nathan Miller of Carnegie Institute of Technology will discuss the question, "Economic Planning or Political Revolution?"
